Lesson 1

Complete Subjects and Predicates

A sentence is a group of words that expresses a complete thought. Every complete sentence has two basic parts: a subject and a predicate.

The complete subject includes all the words that tell whom or what the sentence is about.

- Wildlife conservationists monitor endangered animals.

The complete predicate includes the verb and all the words that tell what the subject is or what the subject does.

- Endangered animals need protection.

Identifying Complete Subjects and Complete Predicates

Underline the complete subject once and the complete predicate twice.

Example: The blue whale needs protection from commercial hunters.

1. The clearing of forests destroys many animals' habitats.
2. Some animals cannot adapt to new environments.
3. New laws protect the habitat of many threatened animals.
4. American bison became an endangered species in the 1800s.
5. The bison herd is growing once again.
6. Dangerous chemicals in the water and on land poison some types of animals and birds.
7. National parks provide a safe place for animals to live.
8. The California condor population is getting bigger.
9. Many scientists are working to save the giant panda.
10. The Asiatic lion and the Bengali tiger still face extinction.
11. Endangered animals are the group most in danger of becoming extinct.
12. Threatened animals may be at risk as well.
13. Zoos raise some endangered animals in captivity.
14. Peregrine falcons and Hawaiian geese have been raised successfully this way.
15. Grown animals are released into wildlife refuges or national parks.
16. Pelican Island in Florida was the first federal wildlife refuge in the U.S.
17. The Fish and Wildlife Service helps to preserve endangered animals.
19. About 40 kinds of birds became extinct in the last 200 years.
20. Two lost species are the passenger pigeon and the Carolina parakeet.
21. The California grizzly bear could not be saved from extinction.
Lesson 1

Complete Subjects and Predicates

A sentence is a group of words that expresses a complete thought. Every complete sentence has two basic parts: a subject and a predicate.

The complete subject includes all the words that tell whom or what the sentence is about.

Wildlife conservationists monitor endangered animals.

The complete predicate includes the verb and all the words that tell what the subject is or what the subject does.

Endangered animals need protection.

Identifying Complete Subjects and Complete Predicates

Underline the complete subject once and the complete predicate twice.

EXAMPLE: The blue whale needs protection from commercial hunters.

1. The clearing of forests destroys many animals' habitats.
2. Some animals cannot adapt to new environments.
3. New laws protect the habitat of many threatened animals.

Lesson 7

Subjects in Unusual Order

A. Revising Using Different Sentence Orders

The writer of this paragraph decided never to use the usual word order of subject before verb. In all of the paragraph's sentences, the subject is found in an unusual position or is understood. Rewrite the paragraph. Use a variety of sentence orders to improve the paragraph.

Have you ever gone camping with your family? To a state park went my family last weekend. In a tent camped all four of us. There were many interesting things to do. Through the woods hiked the family. There were wildflowers in the meadow. Around our campsite were spotted many wild animals. There were boats to row on the lake. All too soon came the time to leave. Reluctantly packed my family. To come back to the state park again was our decision.

B. Revising Using a Variety of Sentence Orders

The writer of this paragraph decided always to use the usual word order of subject before verb. Rewrite the paragraph, this time using many kinds of sentence orders. Write at least two sentences in which the subject comes before the verb. Write at least two sentences in a more unusual order, with the subject after the verb.

We made a list of camping equipment to take with us. A tent was first on our list. Air mattresses were also on our list. We included sleeping bags for each of us. A small propane stove for cooking our meals was needed, too. Two large coolers were added to our list. We took enough food and beverages for the entire weekend. Flashlights were at the bottom of the list. Everyone brought some rain gear, just in case. We were ready for anything.
Complements: Subject Complements

A complement is a word or group of words that completes the meaning of the verb.

A subject complement is a word or group of words that follows a linking verb and renames or describes the subject. Common linking verbs include forms of be, such as am, is, are, was, and were; and verbs such as appear, feel, look, sound, seem, and taste.

Subject complements can act as nouns or adjectives.

A predicate noun follows a linking verb and defines or renames the subject.

That dance is the waltz. (is is the linking verb)

A predicate adjective follows a linking verb and describes the subject, telling what qualities it has.

The dancers are graceful.

Identifying Linking Verbs and Subject Complements

In the following sentences, underline the linking verbs once and the subject complements twice. On the line, write PA for predicate adjective or PN for predicate noun.

1. Dancing is one of the oldest forms of communication.
2. Dancing is movement in rhythm, usually accompanied by music.
3. Ballet is a form of formal dancing performed for audiences.
4. Oriental dances are very traditional.
5. The square dance, the Irish jig, and the polka are well-known folk dances.
6. The dance numbers in movie musicals look imaginative.
7. Ballroom dancing appears elegant.
8. The tango is a popular Latin-American dance.
9. Many dances seem popular for only a short time.
10. The waltz became quite fashionable in the 1800s.
11. In the 1920s, the Charleston was a fad.
12. In the 1930s and 1940s, the swing music of big bands was a big craze.
13. The favorite dance of many people in that era was the jitterbug.
14. The dances of the 1960s became quite free.
15. Dancing remains a popular activity at many celebrations.

Complements: Objects of Verbs

Action verbs often need complements called direct objects and indirect objects to complete their meaning.

A direct object is a word or a group of words that names the receiver of the action of an action verb. It answers the question what? or whom?

Brooke threw the ball. (What did Brooke throw?)

An indirect object is a word or group of words that tells to what, to whom, or for whom an action is done. The indirect object usually comes between the verb and the direct object. Verbs that are often followed by an indirect object include ask, bring, give, hand, lend, make, offer, send, show, teach, tell, and write.

Brooke threw Nicole the ball. (To whom did Brooke throw the ball?)

Recognizing Objects of Verbs

In each sentence, if the underlined word is a direct object, write DO on the line. If it is an indirect object, write IO.

Example: Ms. Steinberg needed a new compass. DO

1. The sparrow chased a big crow from the apple tree.
2. We saw a picture of Harriet Tubman in the library.
3. The school mailed the new students their registration forms.
4. Every year Juan gives the children presents.
5. Kings ruled the early Sumerian cities.
6. The accident taught the sailors an important lesson.
7. My mother bought our family a new computer.
8. The wrestling coach told the team the rules.
9. Mr. Thies argued the case in court.
10. The cocker spaniel waved his bushy tail.
11. Give that nail a good whack.
12. Will you show the electrician the location of the fuse box?
13. Mix a batch of granola for tomorrow's breakfast.
14. Alex asked Judith about her knowledge of reptiles.
15. Some horses give trainers many problems.
Complements: Objects of Verbs

A. Identifying Objects of Verbs
Identify the function of the boldfaced word in each sentence below. Write DO for direct object and IO for indirect object. If the word is not the direct object or the indirect object write N.

1. Our visit to the museum was educational.

2. The tour guide showed our class the newest exhibits.

3. She patiently answered our questions.

4. Then, she handed us maps of the museum.

5. The natural history exhibit was our favorite.

6. The ancient fossils amazed everyone.

7. The size of the dinosaur bones surprised me.

8. The class also enjoyed the rock exhibit.

9. Some students bought their families souvenirs.

10. The museum is so big, we could not see everything.

B. Using Indirect Objects
Underline the direct object in each sentence below. Then rewrite each sentence, adding an indirect object. Use a different indirect object for every sentence.

1. For my mother’s birthday, I bought a card.

2. My sister did a favor.

3. The artist showed his paintings.

4. The coach gave some advice.

5. The fable taught a lesson about hard work.
Complements: Objects of Verbs

A. Using Objects of Verbs
Choose one word from each list below to complete each sentence. Use each word only once. Each sentence should have both an indirect object and a direct object. If you wish, you can add words to make the sentences more interesting.

<table>

3. The teacher gave ____________________________________________________________________________
4. The zookeeper brought ________________________________________________________________________
5. The librarian read __________________________________________________________________________
6. The lawyer told ____________________________________________________________________________
7. The soldier sent __________________________________________________________________________
8. My friend loaned __________________________________________________________________________

B. Writing Sentences with Objects of Verbs
Complete each sentence with a direct and an indirect object. Use a different direct and indirect object in every sentence.

EXAMPLE: The radio disk jockey offered listeners a prize.

1. The kindergartner made ______________________________________________________________________
2. My sister taught __________________________________________________________________________
3. The cat brought __________________________________________________________________________
4. The audience gave __________________________________________________________________________
5. The witnesses told __________________________________________________________________________
Fragments and Run-Ons

Sentence fragments and run-on sentences are writing errors that can make your writing difficult to understand.

A sentence fragment is part of a sentence that is written as if it were a complete sentence. A sentence fragment is missing a subject, a predicate, or both.

Fragments Plants in the desert. (missing a predicate)
Must adapt to life. (missing a subject)
Without much water. (missing both)

Revision Plants in the desert must adapt to life without much water.

A run-on sentence is two or more sentences written as if they were a single sentence. When you combine two sentences with a conjunction, use a comma before the conjunction.

Run-On Not much rain falls in the desert some animals still live there.

Revision Not much rain falls in the desert, but some animals still live there.

Identifying Sentences, Sentence Fragments, and Run-Ons

On the short line to the right of each word group below, write CS, F, or RO to identify the word group as a complete sentence, a fragment, or a run-on sentence.

1. A region that receives little water. ________

2. Months may pass between rainfalls when storms do occur, they may be violent. ________

3. The dry desert soil and hardly any water. ________

4. Piles of sand called dunes cover parts of the desert. ________

5. The desert is very hot during the day, the temperature in the desert may drop below freezing at night. ________

6. Animals and plants live in the desert they have developed ways to survive in the hot, dry climate. ________

7. The lives of many desert creatures of the desert. ________

8. Hide in burrows and beneath rocks. ________

9. Desert mammals become active at night. ________

10. Desert reptiles appear at sunrise. ________

11. Desert plants also face the problem of collecting water, the cactus is an expert at holding on to water. ________

12. Need to absorb as much water as possible. ________

13. Not many people except those in the desert. ________
Fragments and Run-Ons

A. Identifying and Correcting Fragments and Run-Ons

On the line after each word group below, write CS, F, or RO to identify the word group as a complete sentence, a fragment, or a run-on sentence. Then rewrite each fragment or run-on as one or more correct sentences. Add sentence parts as needed.

1. The poster on the wall.

2. The photographer took a picture of the beautiful countryside.

3. There are shells all over the beach let's collect some.

4. Laughed at the comedian's act.

5. I love that story I've read it three times.

B. Correcting Fragments and Run-Ons

Rewrite this paragraph, correcting each fragment and run-on. You may add words to any fragment to make it a sentence, or combine it with another sentence. To correct a run-on, you may either separate the sentences or join them correctly.

The largest desert in the world. The Sahara in northern Africa. The Sahara covers an area about the size of the United States it extends into ten African countries. Its landscape includes mountains, plateaus, and huge areas of sand. Its population. Less than two million people. The Sahara has a hot, dry climate, some areas have an average rainfall of less than one inch per year.
A. Proofreading for Fragments and Run-Ons

Rewrite this paragraph, correcting each fragment and run-on. You may add words to any fragment to make it a sentence, or combine it with another sentence. To correct a run-on, you may either separate the sentences or join them correctly.

The camel is a large, strong desert animal, camels can travel great distances with little food or water. The camel carries its own food supply. On its back. In the form of a hump. The camel's hump is a large lump of fat the lump provides energy when there is no food. Camels can run about ten miles per hour they can travel as far as one hundred miles in a day they can carry loads up to 330 pounds. Unpredictable behavior. May groan, spit, or kick.

B. Recognizing and Revising Fragments and Run-Ons

Read these notes one student wrote to use in a report. First figure out what the writer was going to say, and then use the information to write a paragraph. Use complete sentences instead of fragments and run-on sentences. Add any words that are needed to make the paragraph understandable.

The chuck wagon. A kitchen on wheels. For cowboys herding cattle in the American West. The word chuck means "food" or "grub" that is what was provided at the chuck wagon. The wagon was loaded with food, cooking utensils, and bedding for the cowboys, it was pulled by two teams of horses, it led the way from camp to camp. The cook was one of the most important persons on the trail he was highly paid. Looking after saddles and bridles. Also the cook's job. Many cooks. Quickly feed up to 40 cowboys.
Kinds of Nouns

A noun is a word that names a person, place, thing, or idea. Examples include actor, building, ticket, and delight.

A common noun is a general name for a person, place, thing, or idea. A proper noun is the name of a particular one. For example, theater is a common noun; Palace Theater is a proper noun. Only proper nouns need to be capitalized.

A concrete noun names a thing that can be seen, heard, smelled, tasted, or touched. An abstract noun names an idea, feeling, quality, or characteristic. For example, script and villain are concrete nouns, while excitement and dishonesty are abstract nouns.

A collective noun is a word that names a group of people or things, such as crew.

A. Identifying Nouns

Underline all the nouns in the following sentences. Every sentence has more than one noun.

1. Julie played the part of the rabbit in the play.
2. Carlos has created beautiful settings with wood and paint.
3. Mrs. Bernard guides the students who are sewing costumes.
4. Do you prefer musical productions or serious plays?
5. Appreciation for the theater begins at home.

B. Identifying Proper and Common Nouns

Underline all the nouns in the following sentences. Write P above the proper nouns. Write C above the common nouns.

EXAMPLE A new play opens at the Varieties Theater on Thursday.

1. Our class wrote their own play based on the story of King Midas.

8. Some birds' migration journeys can cover thousands of miles.
9. The map's key can help you figure the distance in miles.
10. On Parents' Night, we will present our bird projects.

B. Using Possessive Nouns in Sentences
Change each set of words in parentheses into a possessive phrase. Write a sentence using that phrase.

Example (wings of the bird) bird's wing
The bird's wings had been clipped.

1. (interest of the children) ____________________________
2. (visiting hours at the hospital) ____________________________
3. (hobbies of my friend) ____________________________
4. (speech of the museum guide) ____________________________
Compound Nouns

A compound noun is made up of two or more words used together as a single noun.

You might see compound nouns written in one of three ways:

One single word: rooftop
Two or more separate words: window shade
A hyphenated word: brother-in-law

The following chart shows the usual ways to form the plurals of compound nouns.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Singular</th>

1. The messiest job was cleaning the paintbrushes.

2. When I finished nailing wallboardes, I went out to the back yard.

3. Morning glorys were climbing up the sides of the fence.

4. My two greats-aunt, Lucy and Helen, carried kitchen utensils outdoors.

5. They asked me to wash some breadboxs with a hose.
Lesson 4

Compound Nouns

A. Identifying Compound Nouns
Underline every compound noun in these sentences. Above each compound noun, write S for singular or P for plural. Notice that each sentence has two compound nouns.

1. Our mail carrier brought me a letter that made me as excited as a bag of jumping beans!
2. My great-grandmother sent me an airplane ticket.
3. She’s in a wheelchair because of her recent heart attack.
4. The airport was near the Twin Cities in Minnesota.
5. I was welcomed with bear hugs, muffins, and a glass of root beer.
6. How surprised I was to see her two sisters-in-law in the dining room!
7. They were setting some teaspoons on beautiful placemats.

B. Using Compound Nouns
Write the plural forms for each set of compound words. Then use all three plural compounds in a single sentence.

1. baked bean ____________ hot dog ________________ paper plate ________________

2. bluebird ________________ sunflower ________________ window box ________________

3. brother-in-law ________________
snowman ________________ wristwatch ________________
Compound Nouns

A. Identifying Compound Nouns

Underline two or more compound nouns in each sentence. Then rewrite the sentences, changing the singular compounds to plurals. The words in parentheses can be deleted.

Example: My grandparent had a reunion with (a) schoolmate.
My grandparents had a reunion with schoolmates.

1. The girlfriend acted as bridesmaid at their wedding.

2. In those days it was common for (an) eighteen-year-old to be (a) newlywed.

3. Their brother-in-law, the groomsman, had the job of giving out (a) place card.

4. Lily-of-the-valley made (a) beautiful centerpiece on the tabletop.

5. For brunch they ate (a) pancake, (a) ladyfinger, and (a) blueberry.

6. The wedding gifts included (a) teapot, (an) ironing board, and (a) doormat.

B. Using Compound Nouns in Writing

Write a compound noun for each phrase listed below. Then use these compounds in a paragraph telling about an unusual or scary dream. Let your imagination take over.

Example: a fence with chain links  a chain-link fence

bill worth twenty dollars bowl for fish paper with news
Lesson 5

Nouns and Their Jobs

In sentences, nouns have different jobs.

As the subject, a noun tells who or what the sentence is about.

Brian is getting ready for a baseball game. His team is in first place.

As the complement, a noun completes the meaning of the verb. This chart shows how a noun may work as a predicate noun, a direct object, and an indirect object.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Predicate noun</th>
<th>renames or defines the subject after a linking verb</th>
<th>My sister is the captain.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Direct object</td>
<td>names the receiver of the action of the action verb</td>
<td>Hector kicked the football.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indirect object</td>
<td>tells to whom or what or for whom or what an action is done</td>
<td>The coach gave the team their awards.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A noun or pronoun that follows a preposition is the object of the preposition.

My uncle ran in the marathon. He competed for the trophy.

Identifying Subjects, Complements, and Objects of Prepositions

In each sentence, identify the word in bold type. On the blank, write S for subject, PN for predicate noun; O for object, DO for direct object, or OP for object of the preposition:

1. Nancy was the goalie for Monday’s soccer game.
2. She threw the ball across the field.
3. Mr. Rollins gave the student a message for his parents.
4. He is the teacher in charge of bus transportation.
5. Our class sent the senator an invitation.
6. Our boat was severely damaged by rocks.
7. Mrs. Chin made appetizers for the reception.
8. Her son Robert was president of our class this year.
9. In the winter, bowling is Greg’s favorite activity.
10. To save time, Coach Elliott gave the team their uniforms.
11. New York City is a city known for its sports teams.
12. Our friends carried cushions to sit on.
13. How many laps did Sandy swim at your pool?
Lesson 5

Nouns and Their Jobs

A. Identifying Nouns as Complements
Underline the subject of each sentence. Then identify the complement in bold type. Write PN for predicate noun, DO for direct object, or IO for indirect object.

1. Dan will show the visitor the location of the lockers.
   PN

2. Today’s goalie was the newest person on the soccer team.
   DO

3. The accident taught the swimmers an important lesson.
   IO

   PN

8. The principal found my brother a summer job.
   PN

9. My uncle bought our family season tickets for the baseball games.
   PN

10. For two years Ronnie has been treasurer of the league.
    PN

B. Using Nouns as Objects of Prepositions
Underline every prepositional phrase in the sentences. On the blanks that follow, write each noun that is an object of the preposition.

   Example: There were several players chosen for the tournament. tournament

1. The bicycle in the garage has had a flat tire for two weeks.
   ________________ ________________

2. Before class Lindsay did 50 sit-ups on the gym mat.
   ________________

3. Outside the stadium, loyal fans lined up by the box office.
   ________________

4. We saw a picture of Babe Ruth in that magazine.
   ________________

5. Can we jog among the walkers at the park?
   ________________

A. Identifying Nouns Used as Complements
Underline each subject in the following sentences. Then identify every boldfaced word as a predicate noun (PN), a direct object (DO), or an indirect object (IO).

1. My cousin entered this year’s Special Olympics.

2. Some horses give trainers many problems.

3. Baxter Junior College offered Dana a scholarship.

6. The whole outdoors was our classroom for the day.

7. Juan was our guide for the annual Open House.

8. Parents brought the teachers a platter of cookies.

B. Using Nouns as Objects of Prepositions
For each phrase, write a noun as the object of the preposition. Then write a sentence using the entire phrase.

1. under a ______________________

2. into the ______________________

3. beyond the ____________________

4. across the ____________________

5. down the ____________________
What Is a Pronoun?

A pronoun is a word that is used in place of a noun or another pronoun. The word that a personal pronoun refers to is called its antecedent.

Personal pronouns, such as I, we, he, and them, change their forms to reflect person, number, and case.

- Person: Personal pronouns have different forms for first person, second person, and third person.

- Number: Pronouns can be singular or plural.

- Case: Personal pronouns change their forms depending on how they are used in a sentence. Each pronoun has three cases: subject, object, and possessive.

13. He or she might help make candles.
14. Parents then, just like parents now, had high hopes for their children.
15. Jamestown is a special place for us.

B. Using Personal Pronouns

Replace the underlined nouns in this paragraph with personal pronouns. Write the pronouns on the lines below.

Squanto was a Pawtuxet Indian man who came to the aid of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Colony. The (1) Pilgrims were near starvation after a very bad winter. Squanto taught the (2) Pilgrims how to plant corn. (3) Squanto showed the Pilgrims the best places to hunt and fish. (4) Squanto's ability to speak English came in quite handy for the Pilgrims. Squanto acted as the (5) Pilgrims' interpreter with the Indian chief Massasoit when the two groups were working out a treaty. (6) Squanto proved (7) Squanto's friendship with the Pilgrims many times. The (8) Pilgrims were grateful,

2. ____________________________  6. ____________________________
3. ____________________________  7. ____________________________
4. ____________________________  8. ____________________________
Lesson 1

What Is a Pronoun?

A. Using Personal Pronouns

Rewrite this paragraph, using personal pronouns to replace some of the nouns that have been used too often. Write your revised paragraph on the lines below.

Food was plentiful in the colonies. Food came from many sources. The colonists grew grains, fruits, and vegetables on the colonists’ farms. The colonists raised cattle, hogs, and chickens as well. A man could hunt for wild game in the fields or a man could fish in the river or ocean. Usually, a woman used ground wheat or corn to make bread. A woman selected herbs from a nearby garden. A woman’s kitchen was filled with delicious aromas.

B. Using Personal Pronouns in a Diary

Historians tell us what daily life was like in colonial times. Someday, historians will study the everyday events of today too. Write a diary entry for a typical day in your life right now. Be sure to use a variety of personal pronouns.
Lesson 2

Subject Pronouns

A subject pronoun is used as the subject of a sentence or as a predicate pronoun after a linking verb.

Subject Pronouns

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Singular</th>
<th>Plural</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>we</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>you</td>
<td>you</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>he, she, it</td>
<td>they</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Use the subject case of a pronoun when the pronoun is the subject of a sentence. Remember that a pronoun can be part of a compound subject.

Subject The Wright brothers liked bicycles. They were also interested in flying.
(They replaces The Wright brothers.)

Part of compound subject Wilbur and he were willing to try almost anything.

Use the subject case for predicate pronouns. A predicate pronoun follows a linking verb and renames, or refers to, the subject. Remember that the most common linking verbs are forms of the verb be and include is, am, are, was, were, been, has been, have been, can be, will be, could be, and should be.

Predicate pronoun Great friends were they.

A. Identifying Subject Pronouns
Underline all the subject pronouns in the following sentences.

1. Even when the Wright brothers were boys, they were interested in mechanics.
2. Did you know that Orville built a printing press?
3. He and Wilbur also made bicycles in their small shop.
4. They became interested in flying after reading about glider pioneer, Otto Lilienthal.
5. Soon it became their primary interest.
6. After Wilbur and Orville’s first attempts at flying failed, they did not quit.
7. We have written records about their experiments with airplane wings.

B. Using Subject Pronouns
Underline the correct pronoun to complete each sentence.

1. Although the Wright brothers went to Kitty Hawk in September, (them, they) made their first successful flight in December.
2. When Orville first flew the plane, (him, he) stayed airborne for 12 seconds.
3. At first, (we, us) in America did not pay much attention to this flight.
4. Later, Wilbur and (him, he) made hundreds of flights in their new machine.
5. Living in the age of jets and rockets, you and (me, I) should appreciate the Wright brothers’ contributions to flight.
Lesson 2

Subject Pronouns

More Practice

A. Using Subject Pronouns

In each sentence, underline the pronoun that completes each sentence correctly.

1. (We, Us) know that the idea of flying goes back thousands of years.
2. You and (me, I) have heard the Greek myth about Icarus.
3. His father and (him, he) flew with feather and wax wings.
4. The Chinese invented kites; (they, them) were so large they could lift a person off the ground.
5. In the 1800s (it, its) was considered a milestone when two Frenchmen floated over Paris in a hot air balloon.
6. Inventors worked on gliders, but (they, them) could not carry passengers or cargo.
7. When Samuel P. Langley built a steam-powered airplane, both the pilot and (he, him) were sure it would fly.
8. Unfortunately for Mr. Langley, (us, we) know that the Wright brothers were the first to successfully fly a motor-powered airplane.
9. During the early 1900s airplanes improved; soon (they, them) were traveling great distances.
10. Although Charles Lindbergh made the first nonstop flight across the Atlantic, (he, him) was in the air 33 and one-half hours.
11. Amelia Earhart also flew nonstop across the Atlantic; the first woman to do so was (her, she).

B. Choosing Subject Pronouns

Fill in the blanks in the following sentences with appropriate subject pronouns. Vary the pronouns you use, and do not use the pronoun you.

1. May Beth and __________ help with the decorations?
2. If you ask Paul and Dave, __________ will be glad to fix your computer.
3. __________ went to the skating rink with our friends.
4. Are Stephanie and __________ singing in the school concert?
5. When the streets got wet, __________ became very slippery.
6. The starting quarterback will be either Marcus or __________.
7. Brendan and __________ wrote an interesting report on reptiles.
Subject Pronouns

A. Proofreading

Proofread the following story to make sure that subject pronouns have been used in the right places. When you find a pronoun used incorrectly, cross it out. Then insert this proofreading symbol • and write the correct pronoun above it.

Can you and me imagine what the Wright brothers’ first flight was like?

Wilbur and Orville had read everything available about airplanes. Wilbur and him had built a wind tunnel and experimented with different types of airplane wings. They had contacted the Weather Bureau to find the ideal place for their trials. When the brothers arrived at Kitty Hawk in September 1903, severe storms and other problems kept them from flying their new airplane. Finally, everything was set. The flight was to be on December 17, 1903. When Orville took off, he flew 120 feet. Taking turns flying three more times that day were Wilbur and him. One of Wilbur’s flights was the longest. Only five people watched this first flight of an engine-powered flying machine. Us cannot be sure exactly what happened because the few newspaper stories about the flight were not accurate. However, you and me can be grateful to two mechanically minded brothers from Dayton, Ohio.

B. Using Pronouns in Writing

Imagine that you have just taken a plane trip. On the plane, you saw all kinds of people traveling with you. Write a paragraph about the people you saw on the trip. Be sure to use at least four subject pronouns correctly.
Object Pronouns

Object pronouns are personal pronouns used as direct objects, as indirect objects, or as the objects of prepositions.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Singular</th>
<th>Plural</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>me</td>
<td>us</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>you</td>
<td>you</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>him, her, it</td>
<td>them</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

As a direct object, the pronoun receives the action of a verb and answers the question whom or what. As an indirect object, the pronoun tells to whom or what or for whom or what an action is performed. As an object of a preposition, the pronoun follows a preposition such as to, from, for, against, by, between, or about.

Direct object

People liked P. T. Barnum because he entertained them.
(Whom did he entertain? them)

Indirect object

Barnum showed them fascinating objects. (To whom did he show the objects? them)

Object of the preposition

Many people worked for him. (For is the preposition.)

A. Identifying Object Pronouns

Underline all the object pronouns in the following sentences.

1. P. T. Barnum was a one-of-a-kind person; some called him a showman.
2. Others had a different name for him; they called him a fake.
3. Once, he charged people to see a person he said was George Washington’s mother, but he was just fooling them.
4. The woman he showed them had never even seen George Washington or talked to him.
5. Many people happily paid to see her anyway.
6. Barnum not only fooled people; he entertained them.

B. Using Object Pronouns

Underline the correct pronoun to complete each sentence.

1. When P. T. Barnum found Tom Thumb, he asked the little man to work for (he, him).
2. People were delighted with (he, him) because he was only about two feet tall.
3. Barnum told Tom’s parents that he would bring (he, him) back home soon.
4. Even people in England were amazed when Barnum showed (they, them) little Tom Thumb.
5. People even paid to see the Feejee Mermaid. No one could believe in (she, her).
Object Pronouns

A. Using Object Pronouns
In each sentence, underline the pronoun that completes each sentence correctly.

1. When P. T. Barnum told a lie, it probably made (he, him) rich.
2. People called (he, him) the "Prince of Humbug."
3. Who could believe (him, he) when he said that he had found George Washington's mother?
4. Some cynics said that she was just a robot, and people stopped paying good money to see (her, she).
5. Barnum began to advertise oddities like the "Wild Man of Borneo." How much would you pay to see (he, him)?
6. Barnum never thought people were very smart. He knew that he could fool (they, them) easily.
7. Barnum sewed a monkey's head to a fish's body and called (she, her) the Feejee Mermaid.
8. People actually paid to see (she, her) too.
9. If Barnum had told them he had brought back aliens from Mars, some people probably would have believed (him, he).
10. Most people probably knew Barnum was fooling (they, them).
11. They were glad to pay (he, him) because he made (they, them) laugh and surprised (they, them).

B. Choosing Object Pronouns
Fill in the blanks in the following sentences with appropriate object pronouns. Vary the pronouns you use, and do not use the pronoun you.

1. The soldier at the gate saluted Jimmy and ____________.
2. When will you send ____________ the yellow yarn?
3. The host of the party greeted ____________ and ____________ at the door.
4. The stranger asked ____________ for directions.
5. Uncle Irving told ____________ a funny story.
6. Luckily, Jason taught ____________ the Heimlich maneuver.
Object Pronouns

A. Proofreading
The following story contains several errors in the use of object pronouns. As you read, you will probably be able to pick out the errors right away because they sound really wrong. When you find a pronoun used incorrectly, cross it out. Then insert this proofreading symbol ↓ and write the correct pronoun above it.

P. T. Barnum was born in 1810. When he grew up, he realized that people needed something to entertain they. So he offered they some strange sights. He decided that they would like to see a tiny person that he had found. Charles Stratton (Barnum renamed he General Tom Thumb) was only five years old when Barnum found him. What was amazing about him was his size: He weighed only about 15 pounds and was less than two feet tall. In the United States and England, people paid to see Tom and marvel at he. With the money Barnum made showing Tom and other acts, he started a circus. He called his circus "The Greatest Show on Earth."

B. Using Object Pronouns in Writing
Imagine yourself at the circus. You would see many people in the acts and in the stands. Write a paragraph about the people you could see on the trip. Use at least five object pronouns in your paragraph.
Lesson 4

Possessive Pronouns

Possessive pronouns are personal pronouns used to show ownership or relationship.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Singular</th>
<th>Plural</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>my, mine</td>
<td>our, ours</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>your, yours</td>
<td>your, yours</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>her, hers, its</td>
<td>their, theirs</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The possessive pronouns my, your, her, his, our, and their come before nouns. The possessive pronouns mine, ours, yours, his, hers, and theirs can stand alone in a sentence.

My future could be exciting.
Some people's ideas of the future are scary. I think mine are interesting.

Some possessive pronouns sound like contractions (its/it's, your/you're, their/they're). Don't confuse these pairs. Remember that possessive pronouns never use an apostrophe. Contractions always use an apostrophe.

Contraction Its a dream of mine to travel in the future.
Possessive What will happen to our city? Its future is cloudy.

A. Identifying Possessive Pronouns
Underline all the possessive pronouns in the following sentences.

1. When your great-grandparents were children, space travel was just a dream.
2. By the time their grandchildren were born, satellites were circling Earth.
3. Today, scientists talk of flights to Mars. Would you like to walk on its surface?
4. The exploration of space will be just one exciting element in our future.
5. Iris and Rob are friends of mine.
6. Their images of the future are quite different from each other.
7. In her mind, the best thing about the future is its endless possibilities.
8. His vision of the future includes dangers such as more pollution and crime.
9. How do their visions of the future compare to yours?

B. Using Possessive Pronouns
Underline the correct pronoun or word to complete each sentence. Be careful not to confuse contractions and possessive pronouns.

1. How we see the future tells us something about how we see (our, your) present.
2. (It's, Its) a sure bet that the future will hold surprises we can't imagine today.
3. Jack's/family made a time capsule for (their, they're) future grandchildren to see.
4. If you worry too much about (your, you're) future, you may not enjoy the present.
5. Ellen has just won a piano competition, and (her, hers) future looks bright.
Lesson 4

Possessive Pronouns

More Practice

A. Using Possessive Pronouns
In each sentence, underline the pronoun or word that completes each sentence correctly.

1. With more than six billion people in the world, (our, ours) future may be crowded.
2. (My, Mine) hope for the future is that we find a cure for cancer.
3. Some people are frightened by the future. They are afraid of (its, it’s) uncertainty and (it’s, its) dangers.
4. A friend of (my, mine) is eager for the future.
5. She has no doubt about (her, its) role in the 21st century. She is convinced she will be president!
6. Some people believe that (their, they’re) chances of living 200 years in the future are excellent.
7. At school last week, a speaker reminded the students that the future was (their, theirs).
8. Sam’s vision of the future sounds like a video game. (Yours, your) seems to be more realistic.
9. Carla entered an essay contest about the future. (Hers, Her) was judged to be the best essay on life in the 21st century.
10. In the essay, she shares (her, she) dream of living in an underwater city.
11. Even though you didn’t win a prize, (your, you’re) painting of the family space shuttle of the future was amazing.
12. We can only imagine robots and computers that do all (our, their) work and thinking for us.

B. Choosing Possessive Pronouns
Fill in the blanks in the following sentences with appropriate possessive pronouns. Vary the pronouns you use.

1. For several days the oriole prepared a nest for ________________ young.
2. Is ________________ latest album out yet?
3. ________________ newspaper was wet, so ________________ pages stuck together.
4. The maple tree lost ________________ leaves.
5. His saddle shoes are newer than ________________
6. Their national anthem is easier to sing than ________________.
Possessive Pronouns

A. Proofreading
Proofread the following story to make sure that possessive pronouns have been used in the right places. When you find a pronoun used incorrectly, cross it out. Then insert this proofreading symbol - and write the correct pronoun above it.

In the past, people have imagined what theirs lives would be like in the future. Some of their predictions look funny to us now. Our planet has not been taken over by Martians. People don't spend your days flying in rockets to the moon. The planet has not seen all it's natural beauty destroyed by nuclear war. However, many things that people in the past imagined for ours world today have come true. Helicopters, television, and automobiles were first predicted by science-fiction writers. Jules Verne was one of these writers. He looked at its world and saw its future over 100 years ago. In books such as Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea and From the Earth to the Moon, he predicted submarines and travel to other planets.

B. Using Possessive Pronouns in Writing
Picture yourself in the future. You will use many new machines and ways of getting around. You will wear different clothes from the ones you wear today. Think of ways in which your life will change and write a paragraph about your life in 50 years. Use at least five possessive pronouns in your paragraph.
Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

Pronouns that end in -self or -selves are either reflexive or intensive pronouns.

Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>myself</th>
<th>yourself</th>
<th>herself, himself, itself</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ourselves</td>
<td>yourselves</td>
<td>themselves</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A reflexive pronoun refers to the subject and directs the action of the verb back to the subject. Reflexive pronouns are necessary to the meaning of a sentence. Without them the sentence doesn't make sense.

The climbers warned themselves to be prepared for anything. (Themselves refers to climbers.)

An intensive pronoun emphasized the noun or pronoun within the same sentence. Intensive pronouns are not necessary to the meaning of the sentence.

I myself would like to climb a high mountain someday. (Myself refers to I.)

Remember that hisself and theirselves are not real words. Never use them. Use himself and themselves instead.

A. Identifying Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

Underline all the reflexive and intensive pronouns in the following sentences.

1. The mountain itself is quite a challenge.
2. He hurt himself while he was climbing.
3. My sister climbed the mountain herself.
4. We started giving ourselves more breaks as we got closer to the top.
5. Tell yourself you can make it to the top.
6. In my dreams, I saw myself climbing the most challenging mountain.

B. Using Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

Underline the correct pronoun to complete each sentence.

1. When you climb a mountain, you challenge (you, yourself) to accomplish things you didn't think were possible.
2. Every successful climber is proud of (himself or herself, him or her) for facing fear and accomplishing worthwhile goals.
3. Even such excellent climbers as Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay (them, themselves) can be humbled by the experience of climbing Mt. Everest.
4. The climb (itself, theirselves), not just reaching the top, proves your ability to conquer your fears.
5. You should never climb a mountain by (yourself, itself).
Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

A. Identifying Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

In each sentence, decide if the boldfaced pronoun is reflexive or intensive. Write R for reflexive or I for intensive on the line.

1. You yourself are your own best friend up in the mountains. __________
2. You can protect yourself from harm by taking a few important precautions. __________
3. Climbers risk exposing themselves to hypothermia and altitude sickness. __________
4. For that reason, wear protective clothes and remind yourself not to rush into high altitudes too quickly. __________
5. When we ourselves are careless, we put ourselves and others in danger. __________
6. Beware! An avalanche can propel itself to speeds of over 100 miles per hour. __________
7. To protect yourself against falling while ice climbing, you should place a screw in the ice every five to ten meters. __________
8. Even though he is a fine climber, Reinhold Messner himself takes the dangers of climbing seriously. __________
9. To prepare to climb, I enrolled myself in a rock climbing gym to experience climbing in a safe and controlled setting. __________
10. We ourselves determine whether we are successful climbers or not. __________

B. Choosing Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

Fill in the blanks in the following sentences with appropriate reflexive or intensive pronouns. On the line to the right, write R for reflexive or I for intensive.

1. Let’s give _____________ a fighting chance to win this game. __________
2. If left alone, the problem may just solve ___________. __________
3. I ____________ will testify if it will help your case. __________
4. Be careful you don’t cut _____________ on that sharp blade. __________
5. It is we _____________ who must speak out about the cheating. __________
6. Mr. Bacon _____________ told us that the pool was closed. __________
Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

A. Proofreading

Proofread the following page from a journal about a rock climbing experience. The writer wants to publish it in a magazine, but there are several reflexive and intensive pronoun errors. When you find a pronoun used incorrectly, cross it out. Then insert this proofreading symbol - and write the correct pronoun above it.

We had prepared us for months for the climb. Many of the team members theirselves practiced every day by bouldering. Whenever possible, we all practiced our moves on large boulders. However those boulders were only several feet off the ground. This was going to be different. Our trainer told us, "You must increase your strength, endurance, flexibility, and balance to succeed, but you also need to prepare you mentally for the climb." He was quite an experienced climber hisself. We always used ropes to protect us from falling. We used nuts, screws, and other tools to support us. Then the big day came. We started climbing a real cliff. It was difficult, but it was worth the effort. We congratulated us when we reached the top. We knew that we ourselves had what it took to be rock climbers.

B. Using Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns in Writing

What challenges have you overcome in your life? What lessons and skills have you learned in the process? Write a paragraph about a time when you faced a challenge and gained knowledge because of it. Use at least four reflexive or intensive pronouns in your paragraph.

Lesson 6

Interrogatives and Demonstratives

An interrogative pronoun is used to introduce a question.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Interrogative Pronouns</th>
<th>Use</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>who, whom</td>
<td>refers to people</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Who is always used as a subject or a predicate pronoun.

- Subject
  Who was president during the Civil War?

- Predicate pronoun
  The winner is who?

Whom is always used as an object.

- Direct object
  Whom did you choose for your running mate?

- Indirect object
  You told whom our secret?

- Object of preposition
  For whom did the caller ask?

Don't confuse whose with who's. Who's is a contraction that means who is.

A demonstrative pronoun points out a person, place, thing, or idea. The demonstrative pronouns—this, that, these, and those—are used alone in a sentence. Never use here or there with a demonstrative pronoun.

A. Using Interrogative Pronouns

Underline the pronoun that correctly completes each sentence.

1. (Who, Whom) was the first man to walk on the moon?
2. To (who, whom) am I speaking?
3. (Who, Whom) did Abraham Lincoln choose as the general of the Union Army?
4. By (who, whom) was that song written?
5. (Who, Whom) will you invite to your birthday party?
6. (Who, Whom) went with Robert Peary to the North Pole?

B. Using Demonstrative Pronouns

Underline the correct pronoun to complete each sentence.

1. (That, Those) are the players with real talent.
2. (These, This) is one movie that could have been shortened.
3. (This here, This) is the row where our seats should be.
4. I'd have to say (that, that there) was a perfect cartwheel.
5. Did you know (that, those) was the first time I ever played that game?
6. I'm pretty good at card tricks. Let me try (these, these here).
Interrogatives and Demonstratives

A. Using Interrogative Pronouns
In each sentence, underline the pronoun that completes each sentence correctly.
1. (Who, Whom) was the first to find a pass through these mountains?
2. (Who, Whom) did you ask to feed the cats while we are away?
3. Do you know (who, whom) the secretary of state is?
4. (Who, Whom) did the British elect as prime minister?
5. (Who, Whom) holds the world record in the pole vault?
6. For (who, whom) did you say you bought those earrings?
7. (Who, Whom) painted that big mural in the post office?
8. You gave (who, whom) your locker combination?
9. Your hero is (who, whom)?
10. By (who, whom) was the symphony composed?
11. (Who, Whom) did you just call on the phone?
12. With (who, whom) are you going to the dance?

B. Choosing Demonstrative Pronouns
Fill in the blanks in the following sentences with appropriate demonstrative pronouns.

1. _______ is the building I was describing to you.
2. _______ are the recipes I got from my grandmother.
3. Look on the wall over the fireplace. _______ are pictures of my family.
4. Whenever _______ happens, I have to laugh.
5. If you gave me a choice, I would choose _______.
6. _______ are the moves that will make you a great player.
7. _______ is the reason why I keep an extra pair of shoes in my locker.
8. _______ are the mice I am training to go through the maze.
9. I know you want a CD player for your birthday, but _______ is too expensive.
10. Renee asked me to buy her some gloves, but _______ seem too small for her.
11. I’d like to join you on Sunday, but _______ is the day we visit my grandmother.
12. Your last dessert was good, but _______ tastes absolutely heavenly.
Interrogatives and Demonstratives

A. Writing Sentences with Interrogative and Demonstrative Pronouns

Write a sentence that you could use in the following situations. Follow the instructions in parentheses to write your sentence.

1. You want to know the name of the school principal. (Use who.)

2. You want to know who wrote a certain book. (Use whom.)

3. You want to know which team is playing your school team on Friday. (Use who.)

4. You want to know whom the principal chose to be hall monitor. (Use whom.)

5. You want to know to whom a letter should be sent. (Use who or whom.)

B. Using Pronouns in Writing

Imagine that you have moved to a new school. You would have many questions. Write five questions you would ask when you got to the school. Use interrogative pronouns both as subjects and as objects.

3.

Pronoun Agreement

The antecedent is the noun or pronoun that a pronoun refers to or replaces. Pronouns must agree with their antecedents in number, person, and gender.

Number Use a singular pronoun to refer to a singular antecedent. Use a plural pronoun to refer to a plural antecedent.

- The sun warms the earth with its energy.
- The stars sent out their light years ago.

Person The person (first person, second person, third person) of a pronoun must be the same as the person of the antecedent. Avoid switching from one person to another in the same sentence or paragraph.

  - First Person I enjoy watching stars through my telescope.
  - Second Person You can record your experiences in a journal.
  - Third Person Kari recognizes her favorite constellations.

Gender The gender of a pronoun must be the same as the gender of its antecedent. Personal pronouns have three gender forms: masculine (he, him, his), feminine (she, her, hers), and neuter (it, its). Do not use only masculine or feminine pronouns when you mean to refer to both genders.

  - Mr. Harcourt gets out his telescope on clear nights.
  - Mrs. Lopez remembers the stars over her childhood home.
  - An astronomer often records his or her observations.

Identifying Pronouns and Their Antecedents
In each sentence underline the personal pronoun once and its antecedent twice.

1. Take some time to look up at the stars. They are beautiful and fascinating.
2. Look at that constellation. Do you see that its stars, when connected, look like a hunter?
3. Some people can see a queen sitting on a throne when they look at a group of stars called Cassiopeia.
4. Gary says that he can’t see how anyone could think these groups of stars look like queens or hunters.
5. Anna has studied the history of constellations, and she says that the ancient Greeks are the ones who named these groups of stars.
6. When the Greeks looked up, they told stories about the stars.
7. The arrangement of the stars reminded Greeks of characters in the stories they had told for years.
8. For example, the story connected to the constellation Cassiopeia tells of a vain queen. The gods chained her to a rock.
9. Orion, the great hunter, can be seen in the sky along with his faithful dog.
Lesson 7

Pronoun Agreement

A. Identifying Pronouns and Their Antecedents
In each sentence, draw an arrow to connect each pronoun with its antecedent.

1. Stargazing has kept its fascination for centuries.

2. Around 200 B.C., Babylonians looked up at the sky to find their future.

3. According to the Babylonians, the stars were important because their movements influenced events on Earth.

4. Today scientists believe human events are not influenced by the position of stars or their movements.

5. The sun, however, does affect life on Earth. It provides heat and warmth.

B. Making Pronouns and Antecedents Agree
On the line write a pronoun that correctly completes each sentence. Also underline the antecedent(s) of the pronoun.

1. Uncle Jack is driving a new pickup truck. He just bought ________________

2. Marc should carry ________________ own backpack.

3. Istanbul is a city in Turkey. ________________ former name was Constantinople.

4. Mandy brought her easel with ________________.

5. A good hiker will always bring ________________ first-aid supplies on a long hike.

6. Joyce and Traci go to the local gym because ________________ can swim in the pool there.

7. Blake and Steve put ________________ return bottles on the counter.

8. Mr. Lee moved ________________ lawn sprinkler several times.

9. You shouldn’t forget ________________ umbrella today.

10. The players are already on the bus. ________________ have a game in Columbus today.
A. Making Pronouns and Antecedents Agree in Writing

Read the following paragraph. Look especially for errors in agreement between pronouns and their antecedents. On the lines below, write the numbers of the sentences with agreement errors. Then write each of those sentences correctly. Use a separate piece of paper if necessary.

(1) Stars were Maria Mitchell’s interest and their passion. (2) She was born in Nantucket, Massachusetts, in 1818. (3) When her father, who was interested in the stars, would study the sky on starry nights, he would join him. (4) Maria won fame in 1847, when it discovered a new comet. (5) In 1857, she went to Europe and had a chance to meet many famous astronomers. (6) Vassar College soon asked her to be her first professor of astronomy. (7) While Maria taught at Vassar, she refused to give your students grades because she didn’t believe in them. (8) She asked students to trust yourself and observe the sky every night. (9) She studied sunspots and photographed it. (10) Maria Mitchell was an extraordinary astronomer in an era in which women were not encouraged in science.

B. Writing with Pronouns

Have you ever spent time looking up at the sky on a clear night? What did you see there? Can you remember if you were alone or if someone else was with you? Write a description of such a night. Be sure to include at least four personal pronouns with clear antecedents.
Indefinite-Pronoun Agreement

An indefinite pronoun does not refer to a specific person, place, thing, or idea. Indefinite pronouns often do not have antecedents.

Indefinite pronouns can be singular, plural, or singular or plural.

Indefinite Pronouns

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Use a singular pronoun to refer to a singular indefinite pronoun. Use his or her when the antecedent could be either masculine or feminine.

Everyone brought his or her special dish to the picnic.

Use a plural personal pronoun to refer to a plural indefinite pronoun.

Several of the students brought their baseball mitts. (plural)

Some indefinite pronouns can be singular or plural. Often, the phrase that follows the indefinite pronoun tells you whether the indefinite pronoun is singular or plural.

All of the food was still in its basket. (Food is singular.)

All of the students made their own sandwiches. (Students is plural.)

Using Indefinite Pronouns

In each sentence, underline the correct pronoun. Also underline its antecedent.

Example All of the teachers will have (his or her, their) pictures taken now.

1. All of the students in the class enjoyed (his or her, their) time away from school.
2. Everybody brought (his or her, their) backpack with dry socks and shoes.
3. None of the students wanted to miss (his or her, their) walk to the lake.
4. Neither of the teachers on the picnic wanted (their, his or her) students to go home with wet feet.
5. Some of the students said that they knew (his or her, their) way to the lake.
6. Both of the teachers were happy with (her, their) classes’ behavior.
7. No one soaked (his or her, their) clothes in the lake.
8. Some of the lake pollution was down from (its, their) all-time high.
9. On the way back, everyone quickened (his or her, their) pace.
10. Each of the students wanted to save (his or her, their) place at the picnic tables.
11. Few in the group could resist (his or her, their) love for outdoor cooking.
12. Not surprisingly, all of the birds in the park wanted (its, their) fair share of the food too.
Lesson 8

Indefinite-Pronoun Agreement

A. Identifying Indefinite Pronouns
Underline the indefinite pronoun in each sentence. Then underline the correct pronoun in parentheses.
1. Before the math test, anyone can look at \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) book.
2. All of the girls were at \(\text{(her, their)}\) best in the last swim meet.
3. Both of the boys inherited \(\text{(his, their)}\) mother's red hair.
4. Sooner or later everyone must make \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) own decisions.
5. At the trial, each of the witnesses told \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) story.
6. Some of the students brought \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) own lunches.
7. Will anybody donate \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) time to the neighborhood cleanup?
8. Few in our class have reached \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) full height.
9. After lunch, everyone went \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) own way.
10. All of the speakers gave \(\text{(his or her, their)}\) talks in less than one hour.
11. Each of the cars had \(\text{(its, their)}\) headlights dimmed in the thick fog.
12. None of the perfume leaked out of \(\text{(its, their)}\) bottle.

B. Using Pronouns Correctly
In each sentence below, decide whether the pronouns agree with their antecedents. If the sentence is correct, write Correct on the line. If it contains a pronoun that does not agree with its antecedent, rewrite the sentence correctly on the line.
1. Everybody was ready for \(\text{their}\) meal by about six o'clock.

2. Some of the boys were still playing \(\text{their}\) ball game.

3. Linda labeled each of the dishes with \(\text{their}\) name so everyone knew what it was.

4. Have any of the containers lost \(\text{their}\) lids?

5. Nobody wanted \(\text{their}\) feast to end.
Indefinite-Pronoun Agreement

Application

A. Proofreading for Indefinite-Pronoun Agreement

Proofread the following paragraph. When you find a pronoun-antecedent error, cross the pronoun out. Then insert this proofreading symbol □ and write the correct pronoun or pronouns above it. If necessary, mark any verb that must agree with the changed pronoun to be changed.

Everybody likes a picnic. But, when somebody planned the picnic I just came back from, they made a few mistakes. First, everybody brought their own dish to share, but everybody brought watermelon. There was watermelon everywhere. Luckily, many of the picnickers had also packed his or her cars with soft drinks and snacks. One of the members of one family had brought enough hamburger for her family, but not for everyone. So after a hearty meal of soft drinks, chips, and watermelon; many of the picnickers decided he or she would take a hike through the woods. Nobody had put any insect repellent in their backpacks, however, and the mosquitoes had the best picnic of all on the hikers’ skin. When the hikers returned, they couldn’t find any of the game equipment, so they had nothing to play with. Most of the people headed back to his or her cars at that point. Anyone who plans next year’s picnic should make their preparations a little more carefully.

B. Using Indefinite Pronouns in Writing

Write a paragraph about a picnic you have attended. You may write about who was there and what you did and ate. Use at least four indefinite pronouns. Be sure that any personal pronouns agree with their indefinite-pronoun antecedents in number.
Pronoun Problems

We and Us with Nouns

The pronouns we and us are often followed by a noun that identifies the pronoun (we earthlings, us earthlings).

Use we when the noun is a subject or a predicate noun.

\[ \text{We earthlings saw the spaceship land. (We saw the spaceship land.)} \]

Use us when the noun is an object.

\[ \text{The aliens showed us earthlings the inside of their ship. (They showed it to us.)} \]

Unclear Reference

Be sure that each personal pronoun refers clearly to only one person, place, or thing.

Confusing: Courtney and Ann are best friends. She is upset that she is moving.
(Who is upset? Who is moving?)

Clear: Courtney and Ann are best friends. Courtney is upset that Ann is moving.

A. Choosing the Correct Pronoun

In each sentence, underline the correct pronoun form.

1. (We, Us) fans waited outside the stadium.
2. When the coach saw (we, us) players, he asked us to carry the equipment bags.
3. (We, Us) customers waited in line for 15 minutes.
4. The bees stung (we, us) unlucky hikers.
5. The movie gave (we, us) inventors a good idea.
6. Once every summer, (us, we) neighbors get together for a block party.
7. To (we, us) couch potatoes, there’s nothing like a Saturday afternoon movie.
8. When (we, us) contestants arrived, we were asked to sign in.

B. Avoiding Unclear Reference

In each set, circle the letter of the sentence that is stated more clearly.

1. a. Bill and Noah went to the lake, and he fell in.
   b. Bill and Noah went to the lake, and Noah fell in.

2. a. When Mom and my sister went shopping, Mom couldn’t decide what to buy.
   b. When Mom and sister went shopping, she couldn’t decide what to buy.

3. a. Before the Johnsons and Garcias met at the party, they didn’t know they had just moved in down the street.
   b. Before the Johnsons and Garcias met at the party, the Garcias didn’t know the Johnsons had just moved in down the street.
Lesson 9

Pronoun Problems

A. Choosing the Correct Pronoun
In each sentence, underline the correct pronoun form.
1. (We, us) earthbound creatures look up at the sky and ponder one question.
2. Are (we, us) humans the only thinking beings in the universe?
3. Getting to other galaxies seems impossible to (we, us) humans.
4. (We, Us) scientists don’t believe anything that we can’t prove.
5. To (we, us) doubters there is no possibility of travel at the speeds necessary to get beings from one galaxy to the other.
6. (We, Us) science-fiction writers are not bound by the facts.
7. Don’t tell (we, us) dreamers that space travel between galaxies is not possible.
8. Maybe someone from outer space is trying to contact (we, us) believers right now.
9. To (we, us) futurists, the idea of space and time travel is fascinating.
10. No matter what scientists say, whenever (we, us) humans look out into space, we wonder.

B. Avoiding Unclear Reference
Rewrite each of these sentences to make them clear, not confusing.
1. Mom and Aunt Rita were talking on the phone but she could hardly hear her.

2. Both the planet and the star are clearly visible through the telescope, but I can’t see it with the naked eye.

3. The brown horse and the white horse were running neck and neck, but suddenly it pulled ahead.

4. The Union soldiers and the Confederate soldiers battled for hours, but finally they started advancing.

5. I saw the movie and read the book, but I think I like it better.

6. Bob and Brian are going to the game. Today, he bought tickets for him.
Pronoun Problems

A. Using Pronouns Correctly
Use each of the phrases printed below in an original sentence.

Example  we swimmers
We swimmers waited impatiently for the pool to open.

1. us fans

2. we mountain climbers

3. us winners

4. we readers

B. Proofreading for Correct Pronoun Usage
The following paragraph is filled with unclear references. Rewrite the paragraph more clearly on the lines below.

Anita and Marisa were in class together yesterday, when suddenly she wasn't feeling well. She also felt sick. Their teacher sent them to the nurse's office. First she asked her what her symptoms were. She said that she had a headache and a stomachache. When she asked her, she said she felt about the same as Anita. She asked when she had started feeling sick. She decided that it was right about when she sat down in the classroom next to the chemistry lab. She called up to the classroom. Sure enough, a few more people were feeling sick now too. She called the principal and the teacher, and they had the students evacuate the hall near the chem lab. It's a good thing she had been there to put the clues together.
More Pronoun Problems

Using Pronouns in Compounds Use the subject pronouns I, she, he, we and they in a compound subject or a compound predicate pronoun. Use the object pronouns me, her, him, us, and them in a compound object.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Compound subject</th>
<th>Florence and he were daring people.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Compound predicate pronoun</td>
<td>Great adventurers were Samuel and she.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Compound object</td>
<td>Adventures were attractive to Samuel and her.</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Phrases That Interfere Sometimes words and phrases come between a subject and a pronoun that refers to it. Be sure the pronoun agrees with the subject.

The Bakers, like other explorers, were determined to reach their goal.
(Their refers to Bakers.)

A. Using Pronouns in Compounds
Underline the pronoun that completes each sentence correctly.

1. Florence and Samuel Baker explored Africa; Florence and (he, him) were determined to find the source of the Nile River.
2. Samuel and (her, she, he) set out on their journey in 1862.
3. For the first 1,000 miles, nothing but desert was visible to Samuel and (she, her).
4. Then a new problem confronted Florence and (he, him)—the swamp called the Sudd.
5. The group facing the challenge was Samuel, some helpers, and (her, she).
6. Mosquitoes attacked the couple and (them; they) as they slogged through the swamp.
7. Months later, Samuel and (she, her) became discouraged when they met someone who claimed to have already found the source of the Nile.
8. He told Florence and (he, him) that the source was Lake Victoria.
9. Florence and (he, him) weren't sure, so they continued their search.

B. Dealing with Phrases That Interfere
Draw arrows from the boldfaced pronouns to the words they modify.

1. The explorers who had been through so much still kept their determination.
2. After months, when the Bakers found Lake Albert, Samuel wrote in his journal that they had found the source of the Nile.
3. Even though he was later proven wrong, Samuel was recognized for his efforts, while Florence was ignored for her part in the exploration.
More Pronoun Problems

A. Using Pronouns in Compounds

Underline the pronoun that completes each sentence correctly.

1. Billy and (she, her) went to the basketball game.
2. All the skiers followed Carolyn and (me, I) down the slope.
3. Between you and (I, me), this movie is not my favorite.
4. The most excited spectators were (we, us).
5. The dog trainer we admired the most was (she, her).
6. The audience had questions for Dr. Weiss and (he, him).
7. Dad gave Toshi and (he, him) a ride to the soccer game.
8. In Arizona, (she, her) and Carmen rode a dune buggy.
9. Mike and (I, me) stared at the hedgehog, and it stared back.
10. Janet made an ice sculpture for the twins and (we, us).

B. Dealing with Phrases That Interfere

Decide if the pronouns in each sentence are used correctly. If the sentence has an error, rewrite it on the line. If the sentence is written correctly, write Correct on the line.

1. The Bakers, in spite of this setback, never lost sight of its goal.

2. Once, Samuel, trying to make a deal with a king in Africa, unknowingly agreed to exchange their wife for a guide.

3. Florence, although sick along the way, often rescued its husband from danger.

4. The canoe, while moving down the river, almost lost all its contents when a hippopotamus attacked.

5. The Bakers, desperate with hunger, sometimes ate crocodile meat as its supper.

6. Samuel, honored by a society of explorers, shared their reward with its wife.
More Pronoun Problems

A. Proofreading

Proofread this paragraph. Look especially for errors in the use of pronouns. When you find an error, cross out the pronoun used incorrectly. Insert this symbol \( \) and write the correct pronoun above it.

Florence and Samuel Baker were not an ordinary couple. For one thing, European women in the 19th century were not known for their skill in canoeing down raging rivers, as Florence did. However, Samuel and her enjoyed the danger of exploration in Africa. To Samuel and she, the journey was serious business. Together, they planned a trip to find the source of the Nile River. Such a journey would be very dangerous. No one had done it before. In 1862, Samuel and she set out. On the way, they encountered many adventures. For example, the sight of a slave-trading center disgusted Florence and he. Civil wars slowed their progress. Samuel and her often became ill. Once, Florence lapsed into a coma, and Samuel thought that she would die. However, her and Samuel survived to become the first Europeans to stand at the shores of Lake Albert. Thanks to the efforts of Florence and he, the African continent became less mysterious to Europeans.

B. Making Pronouns Agree with Their Antecedents

Below are the beginnings of several sentences. Each beginning contains the sentence's subject. For each sentence beginning, write an ending that contains a pronoun that refers to the subject of each sentence.

EXAMPLE  The cat with long whiskers licked \( \) fur.

1. The explorers in Africa often lost ____________________________

2. The angry crocodile by the waterfall opened ____________________________

3. Florence, although sick, rose from ____________________________

4. Samuel, a good friend, was willing to share ____________________________

5. The assistants, each one weighted down with a heavy load, picked up ____________________________

6. Africa, a mysterious continent to many 19th-century people, was known for ____________________________
What Is a Verb?

A verb is a word used to express an action, a condition, or a state of being. The two main kinds of verbs are action verbs and linking verbs. Both kinds can appear with helping verbs.

An action verb tells what the subject does. The action may be physical or mental.

I repair cars. (physical action)  I know a lot about cars. (mental action)

A linking verb links the subject of the sentence to a word in the predicate. The most common linking verbs are forms of the verb be, as in We are late.

Linking Verbs

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Forms of be</th>
<th>be, is, am, are, was, were, been, being</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Verbs that express condition</td>
<td>look, smell, feel, sound, taste, grow, appear, become, seem, remain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Some verbs may act either as action verbs or as linking verbs.

The chef tastes the desserts. (action)
The cake tastes delicious. (linking)

Helping verbs help the main verb express precise meaning. They are combined with the main verbs to form verb phrases.

He has planted the crops. (The helping verb is has. The main verb is planted.)

A few verbs can serve as either helping verbs or main verbs.

He has a tractor. (The main verb is has.)

Common Helping Verbs

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Forms of have: has, have, had</th>
<th>Forms of be: be, am, is, are, was, were, been, being</th>

5. Every fireman smells for smoke at the scene of a fire.
   Answer: A
What Is a Verb?

A. Identifying Verbs
Underline the verb or verb phrase in each sentence. On the line to the right, label the verb with A for action or L for linking.

1. The teacher should take attendance every day. ___
2. The hard-working plumber was early. ___
3. Those secretaries appear very busy this afternoon. ___
4. A policeman did question the suspect after the incident. ___
5. The cab driver was driving extremely fast down the street. ___
6. Her mother, Naomi, is a tax attorney with her own business. ___
7. The construction crew will build that house in less than a month. ___

B. Identifying Helping Verbs and Main Verbs
In Exercise A, find four sentences that use helping verbs. In the chart below, write those sentence numbers and the parts of each verb phrase in the correct columns.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Number</th>
<th>Helping Verbs</th>

C. Using Verbs
In each sentence, replace the underlined verb. Use a more specific verb if possible.

1. My hairdresser cleans my hair before she cut it. ___

2. The reporter writes an article for the daily newspaper. ___

3. The florist cuts the ends of the flower stems. ___
What Is a Verb?

A. Identifying and Replacing Verbs

In each sentence, underline the verb or verb phrase. If the verb is an action verb, rewrite the sentence with another action verb. If possible, use a more specific verb. If the original verb is a linking verb, simply write Linking.

1. The musician plays his guitar for the new band.

2. During the fall, we collect the leaves in our yard.

3. The veterinarian appears competent and friendly.

4. The painter did stir the paints together.

5. The coach knows the game of football very well.

6. The interior decorator recommended a new coat of paint.

B. Using Verbs

On each line, write the action verb from the list below that makes sense in the sentence and paragraph. Be sure to use the correct form of the verb. Underline every linking verb.

to study  to tell  to calculate  to help  to like

Our class visited the Career Center today. It is interesting. The counselors __________ us about the job opportunities available. For example, as a social worker, we could __________ all the children who are less fortunate. Jennifer __________ the ocean and its marine life. So, she might __________ the ocean life as a marine biologist. For me, the job of an accountant seems appealing. I can __________ answers to complicated math problems very easily. College degrees are necessary now for most professions.
Action Verbs and Objects

Action verbs often require words that complete their meaning. These words are called complements. These complements are direct objects and indirect objects.

A direct object is a word or words that name the receiver of the action. It answers the question "What or whom receives the action of the verb?"

Fred carries letters. (What does Fred carry? letters)

An indirect object tells to what or whom or for what or whom an action is done. Verbs that take indirect objects include bring, give, hand, lend, make, send, show, teach, tell, and write.

Fred brings my neighbors mail. (To whom does Fred bring mail? neighbors)

(Note that if the preposition to or for appears before a word, that word is not an indirect object.)

Transitive and Intransitive Verbs An action verb that has a direct object is called a transitive verb. An action verb that does not have a direct object is an intransitive verb.

Do not be confused when an intransitive verb is followed by an adverb. A direct object tells what or whom, while an adverb tells how, when, where, or to what extent.

Colby reads well. (How does Colby read? well. Here reads is intransitive.)

Identifying Direct and Indirect Objects, and Transitive and Intransitive Verbs

In each sentence, underline the verb or verb phrase. Above each boldfaced word write DO, IO, or ADV for direct object, indirect object, or adverb. On the line to the right, write whether the verb is Transitive or Intransitive.

1. Henry forwarded his lawyer the papers by overnight mail.
2. James practices endlessly at the gym.
3. Uncle Leo mailed James a basketball for his birthday.
4. James shipped Uncle Leo a book.
5. Rhonda found the lost stamps.
6. Janet didn’t have an envelope.
7. Mary generously gave her a large envelope.
8. Frieda was scribbling carelessly.
9. Frieda scribbled her signature on her cards.
10. My mother sent me a care package.
Action Verbs and Objects

A. Identifying Direct and Indirect Objects, and Transitive and Intransitive Verbs

In each sentence, underline the verb or verb phrase. Above each boldfaced word write DO, IO, or ADV for direct object, indirect object, or adverb. On the line at the right, write whether the verb is Transitive or Intransitive.

1. Morris dropped the letter at the post office.
2. On the address, the sender had written illegibly.
3. The librarian showed Eva a letter from the Second World War.
4. Malik sent Nora an e-mail with an explanation of his problem.
5. Dave submitted the winning entry in a contest.
6. He had received the entry form in the mail.
7. My mail rarely arrives on time.
8. Angela prepared beautiful packages.
9. The mail carrier handed us the catalogs.
10. What did your cousin send you?

B. Completing Transitive Verbs by Adding Direct Objects

Add a direct object to each of these sentences.

1. The mail carrier put __________________ in the box.
2. Maria sent __________________.
3. Dora mailed her brother __________________.
4. Helen addressed _______________ to the entrants.
5. Maria put ____________________________ in a brown manila envelope.
6. The postal clerk gave Emilio __________________ for his dollar.
7. Bart accepted John's __________________ about the mix-up.
8. The applicant submitted ____________________.
9. A delivery truck brought us __________________ on Friday.
10. As usual, the holidays caused __________________ at the post office.

Application

B. Changing Intransitive Verbs to Transitive Verbs by Adding Direct Objects

The verb in each sentence below is an intransitive verb, without a direct object. Rewrite the sentence, using the same subject and verb but changing the rest of the sentence to make the verb transitive. Underline both the verb and the direct object that you add.

Example: Mrs. Johnson dresses stylishly.
Mrs. Johnson dresses her little boy in warm clothes.

1. Christine writes well.

2. Thomas has sung a long time.

3. Hortensia knits skillfully.

4. The orchestra played out of tune.

5. My neighbor stopped for a chat before her trip.

B. Using Direct and Indirect Objects and Transitive and Intransitive Verbs

Write a paragraph about sending mail (letters or packages) to a friend. In the paragraph, use at least four terms from each box. Use the verbs as either transitive or intransitive verbs. Use the nouns and pronouns as direct or indirect objects. Underline each verb you use as a transitive verb.

Linking Verbs and Predicate Words

A linking verb connects the subject of a sentence to a word or words in the predicate. This word is called a subject complement. The subject complement identifies or describes the subject. Some common linking verbs are is, feel, seem, and look.

A hurricane is a violent tropical whirlwind. (linking verb: is; subject complement: whirlwind)

Hurricanes seem uncontrollable. (linking verb: seem; subject complement: uncontrollable)

There are two kinds of subject complements.

A predicate noun is a noun that follows a linking verb and identifies, renames, or defines the subject.

Some tropical storms become hurricanes. (The predicate noun hurricanes identifies the subject, storms.)

A predicate adjective is an adjective that follows a linking verb and describes or modifies the subject.

Their winds are strong. (The predicate adjective strong describes the subject, winds.)

Identifying Linking Verbs and Predicate Words
In each sentence, underline the subject once and the verb twice. Write the predicate word on the line to the right.

1. A hurricane is a powerful tropical storm.
2. For a hurricane, the water temperature must be warm.
3. Feeder bands are the outer part of the hurricane.
4. The eye is the center of the hurricane.
5. Inside the eye, the wind feels calm.
6. Outside the eye, the winds grow fierce.
7. That part of the hurricane is the eye wall.
8. Hurricanes are dangerous over land.
9. A surge is a quick rise in the ocean's water level.
10. The winds of a hurricane sound deafening.

8. Early evacuation warnings are necessary for safety.
   ________________

   ________________

10. Throughout Florida, its effects looked disastrous.
    ________________

B. Using Predicate Words

Complete each sentence by writing a predicate complement in the blank. In the parentheses following the sentence, write PN if you added a predicate noun and PA if you added a predicate adjective.

1. To my grandmother, my favorite music sounds _________________. (____)
2. The weather outside my window looks ________________ (____)
3. China is a ________________ in the Eastern Hemisphere. (____)
4. With water and fertilizer, the plants grew _________________. (____)

Lesson 3

Linking Verbs and Predicate Words

A. Identifying Linking Verbs and Predicate Words
In each sentence, underline the subject once and the verb twice. Write the predicate word on the line to the right. After the predicate word, identify it by writing PN for predicate noun or PA for predicate adjective.

Example Today's weather forecast was an accurate prediction. prediction, PN

1. Snowstorms are a common occurrence in the North during January and February.

2. Yesterday, our local high temperature was a record.

3. The rain on the roof sounded pleasant.

4. Summer days seem long.

5. The thick fog looked solid.

6. After the drought, the long rain was a welcome relief.

7. By January 5, our snow was three feet deep.

8. During the hot months, mosquitoes are a nuisance.

B. Rewriting Predicate Phrases
Rewrite each predicate phrase in Exercise A. When possible, replace every predicate noun with a predicate adjective or replace the predicate adjective with a predicate noun.

Example Today's weather forecast was a poor guess. or Today's weather forecast was accurate.

1. Snowstorms are

2. Yesterday, our local high temperature was

3. The rain on the roof sounded

4. Summer days seem

5. The thick fog looked

6. After the drought, the long rain was

7. By January 5, our snow was

8. During the hot months, mosquitoes are Principal Parts of Verbs

Every verb has four basic forms called its principal parts: the present, the present participle, the past, and the past participle. With helping verbs, these four parts make all the tenses and forms of the verb.

I admire that singer. (Present)
I am admiring her high notes. (Present participle)
I admired her presentation. (Past)
I have admired her for years. (Past participle)

<table>

<td>(is) admiring</td>
<td>admired</td>
<td>(has) admired</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>listen</td>
<td>(is) listening</td>
<td>listened</td>
<td>(has) listened</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

There are two kinds of verbs: regular and irregular.

A regular verb is a verb whose past and past participle are formed by adding -ed or -d to the present. The present participle is formed by adding -ing to the present. Spelling changes are needed in some words, for example, carry–carried.

<table>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>listen</td>
<td>(is) listen + -ing</td>
<td>listen + -ed</td>
<td>(has) listen + -ed</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Irregular verbs are discussed in the next lesson.

Identifying Forms of Regular Verbs

Identify each underlined principal part of the verb. Write Pres., Pres. Part., Past, or Past Part. on the line to identify the present, present participle, past, or past participle form.

EXAMPLE The orchestra has voted on the contract. Past Part.

1. Marian Anderson was called "a queen, a national treasure, an inspiration."

2. She performed on Easter Sunday, 1939, at the Lincoln Memorial.

3. The Daughters of the American Revolution had prevented her from singing at Constitution Hall.

8. Clara (go) for the doctor in plenty of time.
9. The police (give) the illegally parked car a ticket.
10. The temperature (fall) last night.
Lesson 5

Irregular Verbs

A. Writing the Correct Forms of Verbs

 Decide which form of the verb given in parentheses is needed. Write the correct form on the line. Then identify which form you used by writing Past or PP for past participle.

 Example: The sweater (shrink) when I washed it. shrank, Past

1. Our water pipes (freeze) during that cold snap last week.
2. One of your ideas has really (ring) a bell with me.
3. Regina (know) the answer to the question.

8. When Sherri was in Kenya, she (speak) the Swahili language.
9. Several planes have (take) off for the rescue mission.
10. The fox (go) quietly into the chicken coop.

B. Proofreading for the Correct Forms of Verbs

Draw a line through each incorrect verb form in this paragraph. Draw this proofreading symbol next to the error and, in the spaces between lines of type, write the correct form of the verb.

 Example: Jane lended her doll to a friend.

My sister Jane is hard to please. For her birthday, I bought her a sweater that I think she only wore once and then put away in her closet. Last year, I got her a puzzle. A month later, without ever having put it together, she sold it at our annual garage sale for a dollar. I had paid $3 for it.
Simple Tenses

A tense is a verb form that shows the time of an action or condition. Verbs have three simple tenses: the present, the past, and the future. The present tense shows an action or condition that occurs now. The past tense shows an action that was completed in the past. The future tense shows an action that will occur in the future.

- Present: Frieda walks quickly. She is quick.
- Past: Frieda walked quickly. She was quick.
- Future: Frieda will walk quickly. She will be quick.

The progressive form of a verb shows an action or condition that is in progress.

- Present Progressive: Frieda is walking quickly.
- Past Progressive: Frieda was walking quickly.
- Future Progressive: Frieda will be walking quickly.

The present tense is the present principal part of the verb. The past tense is the past principal part. To form the future tense, add will to the present principal part.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Tense</th>
<th>Singular</th>
<th>Plural</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Present</td>
<td>I walk / you walk / he, she, it walks</td>
<td>we walk / you walk / they walk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Past</td>
<td>I walked / you walked / he, she, it walked</td>
<td>we walked / you walked / they walked</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Future</td>
<td>I will walk / you will walk / he, she, it will walk</td>
<td>we will walk / you will walk / they will walk</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

To make the progressive form of one of these tenses, add the present, past, or future from of the verb be to the present participle of the verb, as in I am walking, I was walking, and I will be walking.

Recognizing the Simple Tenses

Identify the tense of each underlined verb. On the line, label the tense: Present, Past, Future, or Present P, Past P, or Future P for present, past, or future progressive.

1. The man next door is selling his car.
   Present P

2. From now on, he will use public transportation.
   Future P

3. Last year he was traveling to work on the bus once a week.
   Past P

4. This year he will be traveling by bus or walking every day.
   Future P

5. He plans to save some money by doing so.
   Present

6. He figured up how much he will save.
   Past

7. But best of all, he says, he will be saving the environment.
   Future P

8. He was feeling guilty about all the gasoline he used to get to and from work.
   Past

9. Some of his co-workers are considering a similar move.
   Present

10. My neighbor will encourage others to follow his example.
    Future
Simple Tenses

A. Recognizing the Simple Tenses
Identify the tense of each underlined verb. On the line, label the tense: Present, Past, Future, or Present P, Past P, or Future P for present progressive, past progressive, or future progressive.

1. Are more people using public transportation these days?
2. The city is planning a campaign to encourage taking the subway.
3. Last year the rapid transit company purchased seven new railcars.
4. The city promotes use of the subway for fewer parking problems.
5. The common council will be conducting a survey on the whole issue.
6. How much do you figure the survey will cost?
7. Council members were considering a study on transportation earlier.
8. We decided buses and the subway are the easiest ways to get around.
9. Private transportation costs too much.
10. Public and private agencies are trying to change attitudes.

B. Using the Simple Tenses
In each item, provide the requested form of the verb in parentheses.

1. (work, future progressive) The train operators ____________ on the holiday.

Simple Tenses

A. Correcting Simple Tenses of Verbs

Although the times referred to in this paragraph vary from past to future, all of its verbs are in the present tense. Rewrite the paragraph, correcting verb tenses as needed. Use progressive tenses if the action is, was, or will be in progress. Underline every verb.

During the age of the horse and buggy, people complain forever about the smelly presence of horse manure in the streets. Then cars arrive on the scene. People proclaim the end of air pollution in the city. "From now on, we breathe clean air," they say. But they celebrate the new age of clean streets and clean air too soon. Today the auto fouls the atmosphere worse than ever.

B. Using Verb Forms Correctly

For each verb on the list, write the form requested in parentheses. Then write a paragraph about a topic of your choice that uses at least four of the phrases. Make sure all verb forms are used correctly.

(like, present) I ____________________________ (hike, future) I ____________________________
(walk, past) I ____________________________ (enjoy, future progressive) (talk, present progressive) (observe, past progressive)
Perfect Tenses

The present perfect tense shows an action or condition that began in the past and continues into the present.

Present Perfect  Marty has studied math every day this semester.

The past perfect tense shows an action or condition in the past that came before another action or condition in the past.

Past Perfect  Marty had studied her math before Ann called.

The future perfect tense shows an action or condition in the future that will occur before another action or condition in the future.

Future Perfect  Marty will have studied her math before Ann calls again.

To form the present perfect, past perfect, and future perfect tenses, add has, have, had, or will have to the past participle.

Using Verb Tenses

In writing and speaking, you use the tenses of verbs to indicate when events happen. Changing tenses indicates a change in time. If you do not need to indicate a change in time between two actions, keep the tenses of the two verbs the same.

The Present Tenses  These tenses show events occurring in the present time:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Present</th>
<th>Action occurs in the present.</th>
<th>watch, watches</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Present perfect</td>
<td>Action begun in past and continues in present.</td>
<td>has watched, have watched</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Present progressive</td>
<td>Action is in progress now.</td>
<td>is watching, are watching</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Past Tenses  These tenses show events that occurred in a past time:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Past</th>
<th>Action began and ended in the past.</th>
<th>watched</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Past perfect</td>
<td>Action began and ended before another event in the past</td>
<td>had watched</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Past progressive</td>
<td>Action in the past was ongoing.</td>
<td>was watching</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Future Tenses  These tenses show events occurring in a future time:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Future</th>
<th>Action will occur in the future.</th>
<th>will watch</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Future perfect</td>
<td>Action will occur in the future before another action in the future.</td>
<td>will have watched</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Future progressive</td>
<td>Action in the future will be ongoing.</td>
<td>will be watching</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Lesson 2

Predicate Adjectives

A predicate adjective is an adjective that follows a linking verb and describes the verb’s subject. The linking verb connects the predicate adjective with the subject.

Fire in the city is dangerous. (The linking verbs is is. The predicate adjective is dangerous.)

Often, forms of be are linking verbs, as in the above example. However, predicate adjectives can also follow other linking verbs such as taste, smell, feel, look, become, and seem.

Such a disaster seemed impossible. (The linking verbs is seemed. The predicate adjective is impossible.)

Identifying Predicate Adjectives

Underline the predicate adjective in each sentence. If the sentence has no predicate adjective, write None on the line to the right.

1. In 1871, the city of Chicago was already huge.

2. Over 350,000 residents felt proud of their beautiful city.

3. Most of the buildings in the city were wooden.

4. The hundreds of miles of sidewalk were wooden too.

5. But the beautiful city became deadly on the evening of October 8.

6. On that night, someone was careless.

7. How the fire started is still mysterious.

8. Soon, however, whole city blocks were burning.

9. The waterworks soon caught fire; without water, the firefighters were helpless.

10. The fire burned for more than a full day.

11. The blaze had caused about $200,000 in damages.

12. After the fire, about 100,000 people were homeless.

13. More people had lost everything they owned.

14. The people of Chicago were courageous.

15. The new Chicago they built was even better than the old one.

9. This war chariot is life sized and impressive.
10. In case the emperor needed his possessions in the afterlife, he made sure some silk clothes were buried with him.
11. His subjects also buried gold necklaces and jade jewelry for him to use.
12. The soldiers were arranged in battle formation, ready to defend their emperor.
13. Real soldiers probably modeled for the faces of the clay figures.
14. This army is well armed; each soldier has a weapon—either a bow, a sword, a spear, or a crossbow.
15. If you were as rich and powerful as Qin Shi Huangdi, maybe you would make your tomb as grand as this one.
Lesson 3

Other Words Used as Adjectives

A. Identifying Adjectives and the Words They Modify
Underline the pronouns or nouns used as adjectives in the following sentences. Draw an arrow from the adjective to the word it modifies.

1. As a child Bob played with his toy army for hours.
2. At our house, we post important messages on the refrigerator door.
3. Put your dirty towels in the clothes hamper.
4. When you canoe, do you prefer wood paddles or plastic ones?
5. Those children built a snow fort in their yard.
6. Christy wants to put her feet in every clear mountain stream that we come upon.
7. Your paper airplane flies farther than my plywood airplane does.
8. The archaeologists found many clay pots in the tomb.
9. That cherry pie is for your school sale.
10. Most days, these wool pants feel too itchy for me to wear.

B. Writing Pronouns and Nouns Used Adjectives
Complete each sentence with a noun or pronoun that is used as an adjective. Write the adjective on the line.

1. The __________ statues are beautiful.
2. The king lived in a __________ castle.
3. His people lived in __________ huts.
4. He was an amazing ruler. Do you know __________ name?
5. I would like to have discovered __________ underground army.

7. __________ person who sees these statues is amazed by the artistry of their creators.
8. The __________ jewelry buried with the emperor is very valuable.
9. If __________ travels take you to China, you should visit this amazing place.
Lesson 3

Other Words Used as Adjectives

A. Writing Adjectives in Sentences
Use the word at the beginning of each item as an adjective in a sentence.

Example: stone A stone house will last for many years.

1. this __________________________
2. grass __________________________
3. antique _________________________
4. car ______________________________
5. every ____________________________
6. silk ______________________________
7. many _____________________________
8. paper _____________________________
9. metal ______________________________
10. our ______________________________

B. Writing a Paragraph Using Pronouns and Nouns as Adjectives
Use each of the following nouns and pronouns as adjectives to describe a visit to a museum with many ancient works of art. Write your paragraph on the lines below. Underline each of the listed words in your paragraph.

marble   their   that   every stone    your    those   some
Lesson 4
What Is an Adverb?
An adverb is a word that modifies a verb, an adjective, or another adverb.

Modifying a verb  Denise always shops at the mall.

Modifying an adjective  She is usually particular about what she buys.

Modifying an adverb  She comes to the mall very early.

Adverbs answer the questions how, when, where, or to what extent. Intensifiers are adverbs that modify adjectives or other adverbs. They usually come directly before the word they modify. Intensifiers usually answer the question To what extent?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Adverbs</th>
<th>slowly, quickly, quietly</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>How?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>When?</td>
<td>today, rarely, annually</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Where?</td>
<td>nearby, there, around</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To what extent?</td>
<td>rather, quite, extremely</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Many adverbs are formed by adding the suffix -ly to adjectives. Sometimes a base word's spelling changes when -ly is added.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Adjective</th>
<th>strong</th>
<th>immediate</th>
<th>easy</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Adverb</td>
<td>strongly</td>
<td>immediately</td>
<td>easily</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Identifying Adverbs
Underline all the adverbs in each sentence. If there are no adverbs in a sentence, write None on the line to the right.

1. There is a big sale at the mall today.

2. People who shop wisely can save a great deal of money.

3. Denise always goes to sales.

4. In the past, she has been very lucky with her buys.

5. She bought a rather expensive necklace very cheaply.

6. She feels happy when she finds a real deal.

7. For example, she bought a nearly new tent once at the outdoors store.

8. She will rather proudly show you the suitcase that she bought for next to nothing.

9. If you want to find a good deal, stay close to Denise.

10. She is amazingly skillful in both spending and saving money.
What Is an Adverb?

A. Identifying Adverbs and the Words They Modify
Underline the adverbs in the following sentences: Draw an arrow from each adverb to the word it modifies.

1. A load of salmon arrived on the docks yesterday.
2. The guard walked very cautiously into the building.
3. Our space probe landed softly on the moon today.
4. The lifeguard swam extremely fast.
5. Quickly, we gathered our gear.
6. The busy beaver gnawed quite furiously on the tree trunk.
7. I am well pleased with my new job.
8. That boy is rather talented; he'll go far if he works hard.
9. The plumbers finally finished repairing the pipes today.
10. Quite suddenly, the horse bolted across the field.

B. Writing Adverbs
Complete each sentence with an adverb. Write the adverb on the line.

1. The shopping mall was ____________, busy the day Sean went shopping there.
2. ____________ all the stores were filled with customers.
3. Sean ____________ shops with a friend.
4. They ____________ stop at the ice-cream store in the center of the mall.
5. Sean and his friend were ____________ surprised to see that the ice-cream store was gone.
6. In its place was a ____________ new store.
7. They stepped ____________, and a clerk asked if she could help them.
8. They looked ____________ and saw computer games on all the shelves.
9. As dedicated game players, the boys were ____________ pleased with this new store.
10. On the other hand, where can they get a ____________ good ice-cream cone now?
What Is an Adverb?

A. Writing Adverbs in Sentences
Use the adverb at the beginning of each item in a sentence.

EXAMPLE late I came late for the movie.

1. carefully
2. slowly
3. quickly
4. very
5. completely
6. easily
7. gracefully
8. outside
9. close
10. gently

B. Writing a Paragraph Using Adverbs
Choose four of the following adverbs to use in a story about a shopping trip. Write the story on the lines below. Underline each of these adverbs and any other adverbs that you use in your story.

eagerly very suspiciously suddenly always carelessly extremely mostly later never Making Comparisons

Adjectives and adverbs may be used to compare people or things. Special forms of these words are used to make comparisons.

Use the comparative form of an adjective or adverb when you compare a person or thing with one other person or thing. Use the superlative form of an adjective or adverb when you compare someone or something with more than one other thing.

- Comparative  Seattle is clouder than Phoenix.
- Superlative  Seattle is the cloudiest city in the United States.

For most one-syllable modifiers, add -er to form the comparative (small, smaller) and -est to form the superlative (old, oldest).

You can also add -er and -est to some two-syllable adjectives. With others, and with two-syllable adverbs, use the words more and most (more careful, most calmly).

To form the comparative or superlative form of most modifiers with three syllables, use the words more and most (more dangerous, most dangerous; more clumsily, most clumsily).

Be sure to use only one sign of comparison at a time (harder, not more harder).

The comparative and superlative forms of some adjectives and adverbs are formed in irregular ways: good, better, best; bad, worse, worst; well, better, best; much, more, most; little, less, least.

Identifying Comparative and Superlative Modifiers

On the line, label the boldfaced modifier C for comparative, or S for superlative.

1. Which city has the best weather in the United States?

2. That all depends on the kind of weather that appeals to you most.

3. Some people are happier seeing sunny skies than they are seeing cloudy skies.

4. They feel more energetic when the skies are blue than when they are gray.

5. Some people think more accurately when they are not distracted by warm days.

6. Maybe you would move to the warmest city in the United States.

7. If you like to ski, you may like a cold climate better.

8. Definitely, the worst weather is a bad storm such as a tornado or a hurricane.

9. What is most amazing is that everybody has different likes and dislikes when it comes to weather.

10. There is no one finest city that everyone can agree on.
Lesson

Making Comparisons

A. Using Comparisons
Underline the correct form of comparison for each sentence.

1. This is the (rainier, rainiest) season of the year.
2. Usually, we get (more, most) rain in August than we do in October.
3. Unfortunately, this year has been the (drier, driest) year in a long time.
4. Farmers are suffering (most terribly, more terribly) than most other people.
5. Their crops are (shorter, shortest) than they usually are at this time of year.
6. Farmers depend (more completely, most completely) on the weather than the rest of us.
7. Even city dwellers would be (happier, happiest) if it would rain a little.
8. Their lawns are getting (browner, brownest) than they would like them to be.
9. The city pools are (busier, more busier) than they were last year.
10. The reservoir is at the (lower, lowest) level it’s been in decades.

B. Using Modifiers in Comparisons
After each sentence, write either the comparative or the superlative form of the word in parentheses, depending on what the sentence calls for.

1. The batter hit the ball (hard) than I could.

2. Of all these sweaters, which one do you like (well)?

3. My cold is (bad) today than it was yesterday.

4. Of the two towels, this one feels (soft).

5. Tortoises usually move (slow) than hares.

6. Our team is the (good) of all the teams in the league.

7. Your shoes look (new) than mine.

8. Which member of the glee club can sing the (loud)?

9. This puppy is the (small) of the litter.

10. The archaeologist washed this artifact (carefully) than the last one.

11. Everybody seemed (silent) than usual.

12. Last, the (valuable) paintings in the show were offered for sale.
Making Comparisons

A. Proofreading

Proofread the following paragraph. Look especially for comparison errors in adjectives and adverbs. If a sentence contains an error, rewrite it correctly on the line with the same number. If it is correct, write Correct on the line.

What places in the United States hold weather records? (1) Let's start with the windiest place of all, Mount Washington, New Hampshire. (2) Which of these cities has the rainiest August: Little Rock, Arkansas, or Baltimore, Maryland? (3) Little Rock does, by a long shot. (4) Which of these two cities deals most often with heavy snows, Boston, Massachusetts, or Rochester, New York? (5) Let's just say that snow shovels last longest in Boston than they do in Rochester. (6) Which city has the higher temperature in the United States in January? (7) No U.S. city is more warmer than Honolulu, Hawaii, in January.

1. ____________________________________________________________

2. ____________________________________________________________

3. ____________________________________________________________

4. ____________________________________________________________

5. ____________________________________________________________

6. ____________________________________________________________

7. ____________________________________________________________

B. Using Comparisons in Writing

Suppose you went to the South Pole with a group of scientists. You would be up against some of the most challenging weather conditions you can imagine. Write a journal entry from a particularly interesting day at the South Pole. You may talk about the weather or about the sights you are seeing. Choose four of the words in the list below, and use their comparative and/or superlative forms in a paragraph for your journal. Underline the words you use.

<table>

Adjective or Adverb?

Some pairs of adjectives and adverbs are often a source of confusion and mistakes.

Good or Well
Good is always an adjective; it modifies a noun or pronoun. Well is usually an adverb; it modifies a verb, adverb, or adjective. Well is an adjective when it refers to your health.

- Adjective: Today is a good day for a ball game.
- Adverb: Does the pitcher feel well enough to play?
- Adjective: I can see well from these seats.

Real or Really
Real is always an adjective; it modifies a noun or pronoun. Really is always an adverb; it modifies a verb, adverb, or adjective.

- Adjective: Seeing the game is a real treat.
- Adverb: I feel really lucky.

Bad or Badly
Bad is always an adjective; it modifies a noun or pronoun. Badly is always an adverb; it modifies a verb, adverb, or adjective.

- Adjective: That was a bad call.
- Adverb: He pitched badly last inning.

Using the Correct Adjective or Adverb
Underline the correct modifier from those given in parentheses.

1. This seats are (good, well), aren't they?
2. There seems to be a (real, really) big crowd at this game.
3. Our team has been playing (good, well) so far this year.

7. I think we may have a (good, well) chance at the division championship this year.
8. We may be (real, really) contenders for the pennant.
9. Here comes a (good, well) hitter up to the plate.
10. Wow! He hit that ball (good, well)!
11. He can hit a (real, really) long ball, can't he?
12. I'll bet it feels (good, well) to run around those bases.
13. I feel (bad, badly) that Luis couldn't join us because of a (bad, badly) case of summer flu.
14. Maybe when he feels (good, well) again, he'll see a game with us.
Lesson 6

Adjective or Adverb?

More Practice

A. Using the Correct Modifier
Underline the correct word in parentheses in each sentence. Label each word you choose as ADJ for adjective or ADV for adverb.

1. Denise writes (good, well) enough to be published.
2. At the Japanese restaurant, the shrimp tempura tastes (good, well).
3. Rosa played the part of Lady Macbeth (real, really) well.
4. The driver who caused the accident feels very (bad, badly) about it.
5. Dolores did quite (good, well) on her final exams.
6. If Jason rides his bike that (bad, badly) all the time, he may hurt himself.
7. After a week the milk turned (bad, badly) in the refrigerator.
8. By now it must smell pretty (bad, badly).

B. Writing with Adjectives and Adverbs
Decide if adjectives and adverbs are used correctly in the following sentences. If you find an error, rewrite the sentence on the line. If the sentence is correct, write Correct on the line.

1. That player looks good at the plate, but can he field good, too?

2. Our team has a real need for a good catcher.

3. The centerfielder is doing real good now.

4. He is so good at judging where a real well-hit ball will land.

5. The pitcher really wants to hit the ball good and feels badly when he strikes out.

6. He should feel badly only when he serves up pitches that are real easy to hit.
Lesson 6

Adjective or Adverb?

A. Writing Sentences Using Adjectives and Adverbs Correctly
Write sentences using the adjectives and adverbs given.

1. good (adjective) ____________________________
2. well (adverb) ____________________________
3. well (adjective) ____________________________
4. bad ____________________________
5. badly ____________________________
6. real ____________________________
7. really ____________________________

B. Using Adjectives and Adverbs Correctly
Read the conversation below. It contains several errors in the use of good, well, real, really, bad, and badly. Underline any errors you find. Then rewrite the conversation correctly on the lines below or on a separate piece of paper.

"I feel real good today, don’t you?" asked Gina. "It's been a long time since I've seen a real baseball game."
Gary replied, "I feel great, too. This is my first baseball game in a really long time. And how many times can you see a team that's playing this good? The only thing I feel badly about is that Sean couldn't be with us."
"I called his mother yesterday, and he is doing pretty good, I guess. Maybe his recovery will be real fast, and he'll be as good as new in a few weeks."
"There's the opening pitch. Their batter has a real bad reputation for annoying pitchers who are throwing good. Let's see if his performance is as bad as his reputation."
Lesson 7

Avoiding Double Negatives

A negative word is a word that implies that something does not exist or happen.

Common Negative Words

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>barely</th>
<th>never</th>
<th>none</th>
<th>nothing</th>
<th>can't</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>hardly</td>
<td>no</td>
<td>no one</td>
<td>nowhere</td>
<td>don't</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>neither</td>
<td>nobody</td>
<td>not</td>
<td>scarcely</td>
<td>hasn't</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If two negative words are used where only one is needed, the result is a double negative. Avoid double negatives in your speaking and writing.

Nonstandard: I haven’t never tasted artichokes.
Standard: I haven’t ever tasted artichokes. OR I have never tasted artichokes.

A. Recognizing the Correct Use of Negatives

Circle the letter of the sentence from each pair that uses negatives correctly.

1. a. We didn’t have no fresh milk in the house.
   b. We didn’t have any fresh milk in the house.
2. a. We didn’t have any idea where the pasta was stored.
   b. We didn’t have no idea where the pasta was stored.
3. a. I can’t hardly boil water without burning it.
   b. I can hardly boil water without burning it.
4. a. No one knew anything about making any meals except sandwiches.
   b. No one knew nothing about making any meals except sandwiches.

B. Avoiding Double Negatives

Underline the word in parentheses that correctly completes each sentence.

1. There wasn’t (nothing, anything) ready for the evening meal when my brother and I came home yesterday.
2. My mom (hadn’t, had) hardly walked in the door before we started asking what was for dinner.
3. Neither of us had (ever, never) done any cooking before.
4. Mom said, “You aren’t (never, ever) going to learn to cook if you don’t start sometime. How about now?”
5. “You can’t find this recipe (anywhere, nowhere) in that cookbook,” she said.
6. In scarcely (no, any) time, she had assembled the needed ingredients.
7. “No one (should, shouldn’t) feel helpless in the kitchen,” she said, as she told us what to do.
8. No one could have given us (no, any) better gift than that cooking lesson.
Avoiding Double Negatives

A. Using the Correct Modifier

Underline the correct word in parentheses in each sentence.

1. Haven’t you (never, ever) eaten rattlesnake tail?
2. It’s a delicacy that hardly (anybody, nobody) I know has enjoyed lately.
3. But that dish isn’t (anywhere, nowhere) near as strange as the foods some people eat.
4. I’ll bet you haven’t tried (neither, either) rats or skunks for dinner.
5. Most people wouldn’t eat (no, any) insects, at least knowingly.
6. Don’t be sure there aren’t (any, no) insect parts in your food though; some are allowed in hot dogs.
7. I (can’t, can) hardly imagine eating bird’s nest soup, made from the saliva of little birds called swifts.
8. I haven’t (never, ever) eaten fish for breakfast, as people in Japan do.
9. I don’t care how hungry I am. Nobody (couldn’t, could) make me eat beetles.

B. Avoiding Double Negatives

Rewrite each sentence to avoid double negatives.

1. We couldn’t find nobody to care for our cat while we were on vacation.

2. Our dog doesn’t eat no food unless someone keeps it company.

3. The driver couldn’t scarcely see the road through the heavy rain.

4. I haven’t seen neither of your neighbors today.

5. Why can’t I never get past this level in the computer game?

6. The librarian can’t find nothing about my topic in his reference books.
Lesson 7

Avoiding Double Negatives

A. Avoiding Double Negatives

Choose one of these words to complete each sentence below. Be sure to avoid double negatives. Cross out each word after you use it.

no never anyone anybody ever neither hardly no one barely hasn’t anything nothing

1. I heard the doorbell, but I can’t see ______________ at the door.
2. I haven’t ______________ been to that restaurant. Have you?
3. Nancy could ______________ hear the caller’s voice on the phone.
4. Mark has seen the movie twice, but I have ______________ seen it.
5. If you don’t have ______________ nice to say, say nothing at all.
6. Hasn’t ______________ ever told you that you shouldn’t talk with your mouth full?

B. Revising a Paragraph with Double Negatives

The following paragraph contains several double negatives. Read each sentence and decide if it has a double negative. If it does, rewrite it correctly on the corresponding line below. If it is correct, write Correct on the corresponding line.

(1) Eating hasn’t never inspired me to be adventurous. (2) I would rather have a plain old pizza than almost any weird food. (3) However, I know I’m missing out on some exciting food experiences. (4) For example, I can’t hardly think of eating the fish eyes that Native Americans in Alaska eat. (5) Nobody won’t ever see me eating shark or jellyfish casserole. (6) Don’t never expect me to eat a sheep’s stomach. (7) If you are ever in Scotland, you might see sheep’s stomach on the menu as haggis. (8) And please don’t let nobody slip some prickly pear cactus fruit into my salad! (9) I won’t eat nothing strange, and that’s final.

What Is a Preposition?

A preposition is a word used to show a relationship between a noun or pronoun and some other word in the sentence. A preposition is always followed by an object, either a noun or a pronoun.

Some common prepositions are about, across, behind, beneath, beside, between, by, during, for, from, in, like, of, on, over, to, under, until, with, and without.

A prepositional phrase consists of a preposition, its object, and any modifiers of the object. The object of the preposition is the noun or pronoun following the preposition.

Dogs help humans in many ways. (The preposition is in, the object of the preposition is ways, and the prepositional phrase is in many ways.)

Sometimes the same word can be used as a preposition or as an adverb. If there is no object, the word is an adverb.

- Adverb My dog jumped up.
- Preposition The cat climbed up the tree.

A. Finding Prepositions and Their Objects

Underline the preposition in each sentence. Underline the object or objects of the preposition twice.

1. Dogs have been trained to perform a wide variety of jobs.
2. Watchdogs protect their owners’ homes from burglars.
4. Police dogs can smell drugs in suitcases.
5. Hunting dogs lead hunters to wild game.
6. Dogs are good companions for older people who may be lonely.

B. Recognizing Prepositions and Adverbs

Decide whether the boldfaced word is a preposition or an adverb. Write P on the line if it is a preposition. Write A if it is an adverb.

1. Over our heads, great formations of geese were flying north.
2. As they flew over, we thought we could hear their wild cries.
3. Please ask the children to come inside because of the storm.
4. With all that lightning, they will be safer inside the house.
5. After years on the bench, the judge decided to step down.
6. Alice fell down the rabbit hole.
What Is a Preposition?

A. Identifying Prepositions and Their Objects
Underline each preposition once. Circle the object of the preposition. Sentences may have more than one prepositional phrase.

1. Above her head sat the Cheshire cat.
2. The train roared through the tunnel, blasting its horn.
3. On Tuesday my father’s car was parked inside the garage.
4. Hundreds of people swarmed into the theater for the concert.
5. Jan showed the lizard to her teacher before class.
6. At noon the colonel strode across the courtyard toward the gate.
7. Without doubt, spitting in the subway is against the law.
8. Our class has been running behind schedule until now.
9. Some of the disagreements between us are beside the point.
10. In the evenings of August, the katydids sang in the trees.

B. Writing with Prepositional Phrases
Underline the prepositional phrase in each sentence. Then replace that phrase with a different prepositional phrase, and write your new sentence on the line. Be sure to use a different preposition and a new object of the preposition.

Example  The dog with the leather collar is mine.

The dog behind the fence is mine.

1. I took my dog to obedience class.

2. My dog’s problem is that it runs after squirrels.

3. The class was held in the school gym.

4. The instructor made us walk around the room together.

5. We practiced walking beside each other.

6. During class my dog seemed happy and calm.
What Is a Preposition?

A. Writing with Prepositional Phrases
Add one or more prepositional phrases to each simple sentence. Write your new sentence on the line.
1. The sheepdog ran.

2. It barked.

3. The sheep moved.

4. The dog saw a wolf staring.

5. The dog got up and ran.

B. Writing with Prepositional Phrases
Use three of these prepositional phrases in an original story. Write your story on the lines below.

in the barn  with a strange name  down the road
by the pump  for fun  after the stranger after sunrise  over the fence  near the house

Lesson 2

Using Prepositional Phrases

A prepositional phrase is always related to another word in a sentence. It modifies the word in the same way an adjective or adverb does.

An adjective phrase is a prepositional phrase that modifies a noun or a pronoun. It can tell which one, how many, or what kind.

The room with many doors was confusing. (The phrase with many doors modifies the noun room.)

An adverb phrase is a prepositional phrase that modifies a verb, an adjective, or another adverb. It usually tells where, when, how, why, how many, how much or how far.

- Modifying a verb
  I stepped into a huge hall. (The phrase into a huge hall modifies the verb stepped.)

- Modifying an adjective
  It was awesome in its beauty. (The phrase in its beauty modifies the adjective awesome.)

- Modifying an adverb
  The doorknob turned easily for its age. (The phrase for its age modifies the adverb easily.)

Placement of Prepositional Phrases Place the prepositional phrase close to the word it modifies, or else you may confuse your readers.

- Confusing With an angry roar, the mouse ran from a lion.
- Better The mouse ran from a lion with an angry roar.

Identifying Prepositional Phrases

Underline the prepositional phrase in each sentence. If it is an adjective phrase, write ADJ on the line at the right. If it is an adverb phrase, write ADV.

1. Last night I had a dream about a strange castle.

2. As I remember, I was walking down a long hall.

3. On either side were beautiful statues.

4. Suddenly, a little man with a long beard called my name.

5. He asked me to follow him through the wall.

6. The wall before me was solid and hard.

7. The man disappeared before my eyes.

8. I decided that his request was impossible and continued my walk toward a tiny door.

9. The door had a small lock with a tiny key.

10. After I opened the door, I stepped into a dark forest.
Using Prepositional Phrases

A. Identifying Prepositional Phrases

In each sentence, underline the word modified by the boldfaced prepositional phrase. On the blank, write ADJ or ADV to identify what kind of prepositional phrase it is.

1. People always park on this street during rush hour.
2. During those long summer afternoons, we read books about pirates.
3. The family camped beside the clear lake.
4. I found an old photo of my great-grandmother in the attic.
5. I know little about any flowers except roses.
6. Rabbits live in burrows and under piles of brush.
7. Hovercraft have been used for transportation in a number of places.
8. Jim Gary makes sculptures of dinosaurs from old car parts.
9. No one but a fool would run across the highway in that traffic.
10. That field of corn will be gone within a year.

B. Placing Prepositional Phrases

Rewrite each sentence, changing the position of one or more prepositional phrases so that the sentence is no longer confusing.

EXAMPLE. We see images in our dreams from our subconscious mind.

In our dreams we see images from our subconscious mind.

1. Dreams to real experiences are related in our lives.

2. Of their dreams some people remember none.

3. Many people in color dream.

4. Fantasy is in most dreams combined with fact.

5. Activity produces dreams in the brain.

Conjunctions

A conjunction is a word used to join words or groups of words. Different kinds of conjunctions do different jobs.

Coordinating conjunctions connect words or groups of words used in the same way. The words joined may be used as subjects, objects, predicates, or any other kind of sentence parts. Some common coordinating conjunctions are and, but, or, nor, for, so, and yet. Use and to connect similar things or ideas. Use but to contrast things or ideas.

For the rich, life in ancient China was elegant and easy.
Rich people at that time lived well, but they didn’t live as long as modern people.

Correlative conjunctions are pairs of conjunctions that connect words or groups of words used in the same way. Common correlative conjunctions are both . . . . and, either . . . or, neither . . . nor, not only . . . but also, and whether . . . or.

Both servants and masters may have lived on the palace grounds.

Identifying Conjunctions

Underline all the conjunctions in the following sentences. Remember that there are two parts to a correlative conjunction.

1. Suppose you traveled back in time and landed in China around 100 B.C.
2. You would see houses made of wood and painted with lacquer.
3. Some houses have two stories and are topped with a watchtower to use as a lookout for spotting enemies.
4. The people are at peace right now, but who knows what the future holds?
5. The rich people live close to others, yet they live in a grander style.
6. For example, they wear fine silk shoes, socks, and robes.
7. Their palaces are filled with paintings and bronze ornaments.
8. Their palace grounds contain not only gardens but also ponds.
9. If you visited, you would want to go into a palace, for you would find it lovely.
10. When people got sick at that time, they were given medicines such as cinnamon and ground magnolia bark.
11. Neither wealth nor power keeps anyone from dying, however.
12. When rich people died, their tombs were filled with beautiful and costly possessions.
13. The dead could not use these items, but they were buried with them anyway.
14. For example, a tomb might hold a woman’s cosmetics and her clothes.
15. Some rich people were buried with either a real servant or with a clay servant.
16. The customs may seem strange, but most people were happy with the way they lived.

Interjections

An interjection is a word or short phrase used to express emotion, such as wow or my goodness.

- Oh, I'm so hungry!
- Wow! That bee is huge!

Identifying Interjections

Read each sentence. If it contains an interjection, write the interjection on the line at the right. If it does not contain an interjection, write None on the line.

1. Hoóray! Summer vacation is finally here!

2. Honestly, I thought the year would never end.

3. Let's plan a huge picnic.

4. Yum! I love picnic food!

5. Gee, I wonder if it will rain on Saturday?

6. Well, let's plan the picnic for that day anyway.

7. Today is a simply wonderful day for a picnic.

8. Awesome! Someone brought enough brownies for everyone.

9. Ridiculous! Of course we can have dessert first today.

9. ____________, That is not what I mean.

10. ____________, That's great news!
Lesson 4

Interjections

A. Writing Sentences with Interjections

Write a sentence for each of these interjections. You can decide for yourself whether to use a comma or an exclamation point after the interjection. An exclamation point after an interjection shows stronger emotion than a comma does.

Example: ick! How long has that ice cream bar been here?

1. ouch

2. hello

3. ugh

4. whew

5. yikes

6. gee

7. whoa

8. well

9. hey

10. no

B. Writing a Diary Entry with Interjections

Write a diary entry about a day when everything went wrong from the time you got up until the time you went to bed. You can write about a real day you experienced or about an imaginary one. Whenever you want to express emotion, use an interjection. Use at least four interjections.
Gerunds

A verbal is a word that is formed from a verb but acts as a noun, an adjective, or an adverb.

A gerund is a verbal that ends in -ing and acts as a noun. A gerund phrase consists of the gerund with its modifiers and complements.

- Allen enjoys singing more than acting.
- He feels that singing well is impossible without lengthy training.

In sentences, gerunds and gerund phrases may be used anywhere nouns may be used.

| As subject | Singing requires good breathing. |
| As predicate nominative | My favorite activity is singing. |
| As direct object | I love singing. |
| As object of a preposition | Rebecca takes lessons in singing. |
| As indirect object | I give singing my best effort. |

A. Identifying Gerunds

In each sentence, underline every gerund.

1. Playing guitar well takes a great deal of skill.
2. Elena has a knack for composing ditties.
3. Francine likes performing for an audience but hates practicing.
4. Morgan isn’t interested in playing in an orchestra.
5. Developing an ear for music takes time and careful listening.
6. Dale’s goal is touring with a rock band.

B. Identifying Gerunds

Underline each gerund. On the blank, write how it is used: S for subject, PN for predicate nominative, DO for direct object, or OP for object of a preposition.

1. Eating just before his performance gave Ben a stomachache.
2. Jorge is anxious about learning music.
3. We encouraged his entering the competition.
4. Ron’s problem was thinking he was the best player.
5. Once the season starts, skating is all Orville thinks about.
6. One of the hardest things in band is blending in with the other players.
7. Singing is the most fundamental form of music.
8. I appreciate your reading my composition.
9. Victor has a talent for finding words that fit the music.
10. Melanie’s favorite pastime is listening to her little sister sing.
Gerunds

A. Identifying Gerunds
Underline each gerund. On the blank, write how it is used: S for subject, PN for predicate nominative, DO for direct object, or OP for object of a preposition.

1. Thomas likes listening to classical guitar.
2. He's interested in learning to play it, but needs a teacher.
3. His least favorite activity is playing scales.
4. While fixing the engine, the mechanic played a classical music station.
5. Winning is not the only reason to enter the contest.
6. Gina enjoys studying with a real artist.
7. Is practicing two hours a day enough?
8. Devonna's goal is entering a college with a highly rated music department.
9. In music and comedy, timing is everything.
10. The school solved the schedule conflicts by creating a new class.

B. Using Gerunds
Rewrite each sentence. Change the boldfaced word or words to a gerund. You may need to alter some other words in the sentence.

1. To play bluegrass has always been my goal.

2. I was afraid to have him as a teacher.

3. The difficulty is to find time to practice.

4. To spend time with friends is important.

5. He knows it is a sacrifice to work so hard.
Gerunds

A. Using Gerunds
Write sentences using the following gerunds in the sentence parts indicated.

1. shouting (subject)

2. telling (object of preposition)

3. singing (predicate nominative)

4. winning (direct object)

5. playing (your choice of function in the sentence)

B. Using Gerunds in Writing
You would like to get a summer job, but don’t know what kind of work you are qualified for. In listing work experiences you have had, you recall these chores: you have taken care of your younger brother and sister; grocery shopped for your parents; mowed the lawn and trimmed hedges; prepared family meals of eggs or sandwiches; and vacuumed carpets. Write a statement, using five or more gerunds, that lists your experiences. You might conclude with a sentence suggesting jobs that these experiences prepare you for.
Lesson 2

Participles

A participle is a verb form that acts as an adjective. It modifies a noun or pronoun. There are two kinds of participle: present participles and past participles. The present participle always ends in -ing.

A cheering crowd distracts him. (The present participle cheering modifies crowd.)

The past participle of a regular verb ends in -ed. For irregular verbs such as steal, the past participle has a different ending.

Stunned, she didn’t know what to say. (past participle of regular verb)
The stolen diamond was worth millions. (past participle of irregular verb)

Gerunds, participles, and verbs all end in -ing. Here is how you can tell the difference.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Word</th>
<th>Example</th>
<th>Tip</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Gerund</td>
<td>The grasshopper enjoyed fiddling.</td>
<td>Could be replaced by a noun</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Participle</td>
<td>The fiddling grasshopper did no work.</td>
<td>Could be replaced by an adjective</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Verb</td>
<td>He was fiddling all summer.</td>
<td>Always used with a helping verb</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A. Identifying Participles and Gerunds

Write Participle or Gerund to identify the boldfaced verbal in each sentence.

1. The disappointed crow went hungry that day.

2. The boasting hare lost the race to the tortoise.

3. Removing a bone from the wolf’s throat was probably foolhardy.

4. The grasshopper laughed at the hardworking ant.

5. After barely escaping the cat, the country mouse returned to the farm.

6. The frightened rabbits, in turn, frightened the frogs.

7. Arguing with the wolf was stupid.

8. The fox tried to escape by running into the woods.

9. The choking wolf begged the crane for assistance.

10. The crane didn’t get the promised reward.

B. Identifying the Role of Participles

Underline the word that each boldfaced participle modifies.

1. The characters in Aesop’s fables are talking animals.

2. Reported to be a slave in classical Greek times, Aesop was a great storyteller.

3. Presenting moral lessons, Aesop’s fables guide children to right actions.

4. The tales, retold for generations, still entertain us.

5. We laugh at, yet learn from, the animals acting like humans.
Participles

A. Identifying Participles and Gerunds
Underline the verbal in each sentence. On the line, write Participle or Gerund to identify the verbal.

1. The smiling man in the third row is my uncle.
2. The slave Aesop was a master at telling stories.
3. Pleased by the noisy applause, the singer gave an encore.
4. Have you heard our whistling teapot?
5. Kathy said she saw a spotted owl.
6. That nursery is famous for growing beautiful orchids.
7. All the candidates praise working people.
8. Evan bought all the materials for building a boat.
9. Taking this roundabout path was a mistake.
10. Shocked by the sight of her sister after many years, the old woman wept.

B. Identifying Participles and Participial Phrases
Underline the participle or participial phrase in each sentence. On the blank to the right, write the word that the participle or participial phrase modifies.

1. The lying fox only wanted to eat the chickens.
2. Stopping too often for naps, the hare lost his race with the tortoise.
3. Frustrated, the fox said the grapes were probably sour anyway.
4. The eagle, convinced by the crow, let go of the turtle.
5. The lion lay in front of his cave, gasping for breath.
6. The disappointed crane flew off sadder but wiser.
7. Running to the pond, the rabbits scared the frogs.
8. The fox, expecting a nice meal, arrived at the crane’s home.
9. Thoroughly upset by the cat, the country mouse quickly left the city.
10. Quarreling among themselves, the oxen became easy prey to the lion.
Lesson 2

Participles

A. Using Participles in Writing
Write a sentence using each of these phrases made up of noun plus a participle.

1. screeching brakes
   ______________________________________________

2. stunning outfit
   ______________________________________________

3. disappointed contestant
   ______________________________________________

4. crying baby
   ______________________________________________

B. Using Participles and Gerunds
In each sentence, underline the verbal. On the line to the right, write Gerund or Participle to identify the verbal. Then rewrite the sentence, if possible changing each gerund to a participle and each participle to a gerund. Add words and ideas as needed.

   EXAMPLE Croaking kept the frogs next to the pond busy. Gerund
The croaking frogs sat next to the pond.

1. Playing his fiddle all day, the lazy grasshopper wasted the summer.
   ______________________________________________

2. *My favorite after-school pastime is talking on the phone.
   ______________________________________________

3. A smiling fox can't be trusted.
   ______________________________________________

4. The whistling waiter left the room.
   ______________________________________________

5. Studying for a test is difficult.
   ______________________________________________
Lesson 3

Infinitives

An infinitive is a verb form that usually begins with the word to and acts as a noun, an adjective, or an adverb. In each example below, the infinitive is to exercise. An infinitive phrase consists of an infinitive plus its complements and modifiers. The entire phrase functions as a noun, adjective, or adverb.

As noun
- To exercise is essential for good health. (subject of sentence)
- John plans to exercise daily. (direct object)
- His plan is to exercise daily. (predicate noun)

As adjective
- A plan to exercise is necessary. (to exercise modifies plan)

As adverb
- To exercise regularly, John made a schedule. (To exercise modifies made, telling why he made a schedule.)

To decide whether a phrase is an infinitive or a prepositional phrase, look at the word after to. If the word is a verb, the phrase is an infinitive. If the word is a noun or pronoun, the phrase is a prepositional phrase.

- John is going to the movies. (prepositional phrase)
- Would you like to go to the movies? (infinitive phrase)

A. Identifying Infinitives

Underline the infinitive in each sentence.

1. Kenneth's goal is to win the race.
2. The committee decided to present a trophy to the winner.

B. Using Infinitives
Use each of the following infinitives in a sentence.

1. to read

2. to compete

3. to sail

4. to speak

5. to pitch
Lesson 4  Verbal Phrases

A verbal phrase consists of a verbal and any modifiers or complements it may have.

A gerund phrase consists of a gerund plus its modifiers and complements. Like a gerund, the entire phrase is used as a noun.

- Flying a kite can be fun. (Kite is the complement-object of flying; the gerund phrase Flying a kite is used as the subject of the sentence.)
- There are also useful reasons for flying a kite. (used as object of preposition)

A participial phrase consists of a participle plus its modifiers and complements. The entire phrase modifies a noun or pronoun.

- Flying a kite in a storm, Benjamin Franklin was almost hit by lightning. (The participial phrase Flying a kite in a storm modifies Benjamin Franklin.)

An infinitive phrase consists of an infinitive plus its modifiers and complements. The entire phrase functions as a noun, an adjective, or an adverb.

- Ben decided to fly a kite in a storm to test his theory about lightning. (The first infinitive phrase is used as a noun, telling what Ben decided; the second is used as an adverb, telling why.)

Identifying Verbals and Verbal Phrases

Identify each boldfaced verbal phrase by writing gerund phrase, participial phrase, or infinitive phrase on the line to the right.

1. Using the kite string as an electrical conductor, Franklin captured a bit of lightning.

2. The electricity captured during his experiment was safely stored in a Leyden jar.

3. Franklin's surviving the process was a kind of scientific miracle.

What Is a Clause?

A clause is a group of words that contains both a subject and a verb. There are two kinds of clauses, independent and dependent.

An independent clause expresses a complete thought and can stand alone as a sentence. An independent clause is also called a main clause.

We all want bargains.

A dependent clause may contain a subject and a verb, but it does not express a complete thought. It cannot stand alone as a sentence. Another name for a dependent clause is a subordinate clause. Dependent clauses are often introduced by words such as because, when, if, while, or that.

when we buy things

A dependent clause can be joined to an independent clause to express a complete thought.

We all want bargains when we buy things.

Identifying Independent and Dependent Clauses

Identify each boldfaced group of words by writing IND for independent clause and DEP for dependent clause.

1. Anyone with a checking account keeps track of the checks that he or she writes.

2. Your check register is a record of your checks and their amounts.

3. Veronica, who is a very organized person, keeps good financial records.

4. If you don’t keep track of your funds, you might write a bad check.

5. A bad check is called bad because there is no money in your account to pay it.

6. An orderly register tells the exact amount of money in your account.

7. If you have little or no money left, you cannot write any more checks.

8. A bank charges an extra fee whenever your funds won’t cover your checks.

9. Each month, the bank sends you a statement that shows what came into or went out of the account.

10. Every bank has its own rules about what fees it charges.

11. A checking account that has a certain amount of money in it will earn interest.

12. Before Andrew opened his checking account, he asked about the bank’s fees.
Lesson 1

What Is a Clause?

A. Identifying Independent and Dependent Clauses
Identify each boldfaced group of words by writing IND for independent clause or DEP for dependent clause.

1. My favorite store went out of business because it was losing money.

2. The store made many sales, but the prices must have been too low.

3. Perhaps the problem was that the expenses were simply too high.

4. When the store paid its own bills, there was no money left.

5. Naturally, the people who owned the store weren't happy.

6. The owners announced that they were selling the store.

7. Although the store has been closed for six months, I still miss it.

8. I had hoped to work at that store when I was old enough for a job.

9. Doesn't the activity in a store appeal to you?

10. Maybe the mall where the store was charged a high rent.

11. If I ever start a store of my own, I'll watch costs carefully.

12. Before I open the store, I'll learn more about running a store.

B. Identifying and Correcting Fragments
This paragraph includes three dependent clauses that are not attached as they should be to independent clauses. Rewrite the paragraph, connecting the dependent clauses to independent clauses.

Most teenagers get an allowance. They can spend this money. However they choose. Some teens spend the money on clothing and other items that they need. Others spend their allowance carelessly on things. That are soon thrown away. Many teens save some of their allowance. Teens who save will have money. When they really need it.
What Is a Clause?

A. Identifying Independent and Dependent Clauses.

If an item is a sentence consisting of only one independent clause, write IND on the line. If it is a fragment consisting of only a dependent clause, write DEP. If the item is a sentence consisting of both an independent and a dependent clause, write either IND + DEP or DEP + IND to show the order of clauses.

EXAMPLE After the snow fell. DEP

1. Banks pay interest on the money that customers loan them.
2. Although savings accounts pay interest, the rate is usually low.
3. When customers take out loans, they pay the bank higher interest.
4. When my brother started college.
5. While opening a checking account has strict requirements, even children can open savings accounts.
6. Loretta has had a savings account since she was six years old.
7. Because 4th Street Savings and Loan pays high interest.
8. Some banks encourage savings accounts for young people.
9. Other banks charge fees on accounts that have only a few hundred dollars in them.
10. If you leave money in a savings account for at least six months.

B. Correcting Fragments

In Exercise A, which items were fragments with the answer DEP? Write the numbers of those items on the lines below. Then complete each item by adding an independent clause to the dependent clause. Write the corrected sentence after the item number.

EXAMPLE After the snow fell. EX. The roads were slippery after the snow fell.

Lesson 2

Simple and Compound Sentences

Teaching

A simple sentence has one independent clause and no dependent clauses. Even a simple sentence can be elaborate, and it may have compound parts.

- The squirrel found and buried the nut. (compound verb)

A compound sentence has two or more independent clauses joined together, but no dependent clauses. The clauses must be close in thought. They may be joined by a coordinating conjunction (with a comma) or by a semicolon.

- The squirrel climbed the bird feeder, and the birds flew away.
- The squirrel climbed the bird feeder; the birds flew away.

The coordinating conjunctions are the following:

  - for
  - and
  - nor
  - or
  - but
  - so
  - yet

Identifying Kinds of Sentences

Identify each sentence below with S for simple or CD for compound.

1. Greg shoveled the snow, and his brother began a snow sculpture.
2. The boat nosed up to the dock; our trip was finally over.
3. Tom and Gail quickly cut and stacked the firewood.
4. Several people listened, but nobody volunteered.
5. Sheila calls it a dragonfly; I call it a darning needle.
6. Did you and Lee walk or ride to your dance class?
7. Gina and Dave picked the wildflowers, and we arranged them.
8. The clown made a face; the child burst into laughter.
9. Her mother went to the trade show, but Doreen stayed home.
10. Wang and his brother looked at the problem and spotted the solution.
11. Mrs. Ballak may be in court, or she may be in her office.
12. Snow fell; winter was now upon us.
13. Kathy phoned this morning, but our phone was out of order.
14. The radio crackled with static and then went out.
15. We could play a video game, or we could go to Jim's house.
16. Lou has been baking bread, and Connie is making a big salad.
Lesson 2

Simple and Compound Sentences

A. Identifying Kinds of Sentences
Identify each sentence below with S for simple or CD for compound.

1. Everyone played pretty well, but Jenny scored the winning basket.
   ______

2. Jaime and Ana sorted the photos and then framed them.
   ______

3. Jaime did most of the work, but Ana helped.
   ______

4. Toshi went to the mall on Saturday; Jody stayed home.
   ______

5. The motorcycles roared around the curve and raced down the track.
   ______

6. Will you stay home, or will you come with us to the movies?
   ______

   ______

8. Charlene clutched at the brake; the bike finally stopped.
   ______

9. Tony washed and dried the dishes and cups.
   ______

10. Lawyers argue cases, but judges decide them.
    ______

B. Combining Sentences
Combine the two sentences in each item to make a compound sentence. Use a semicolon alone, or a comma with one of the coordinating conjunctions: and, but, or, nor, for, so, yet.

1. Dennis plays sports a great deal. He studies hard too.
   __________________________________________

2. You can walk to school today. You can take the bus.
   __________________________________________

3. The whale shark is the largest of all fish. It does not attack people.
   __________________________________________

4. Margarita hurt her leg. She didn’t complain.

Combining Sentences
In all but three of the following items, the two simple sentences can be combined into one compound sentence. If the sentences are close in thought, combine them, using a semicolon alone, or a comma with a coordinating conjunction: and, but, or, nor, for, so, yet. If the sentences are not close in thought, write Unconnected Simple Sentences.

1. The temperature rose above freezing. The snow finally began to melt.

2. Stanley turned on the bedroom light. His mother was making dinner in the kitchen.

3. Amy can play the guitar. She can play the piano.

4. The hare slept. The turtle ran.

5. Carlos bought a tie. He still needed a jacket.

6. Classes are canceled on Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving. In Canada, Thanksgiving is celebrated during a different month.

8. Nita mailed the letter today. The post office was crowded.

9. Keith completed the test. He forgot to write his name on it.
Complex Sentences

A complex sentence has one independent clause and one or more dependent clauses.

Fossils, as you may know, are the remains of plants and animals that lived thousands or millions of years ago. (The two dependent clauses are underlined.)

Each dependent clause starts with words such as after, although, who, which, when, until, where, so that, and since. These clauses can tell where, when, and why something happened or can give more information about the people and things involved.

A. Understanding Complex Sentences

In each complex sentence below, find and underline the independent clauses with these words.

Scientists believe
Fossils have been found
Fossils indicate

Then underline each dependent clause twice.

1. Fossils have been found wherever scientists have searched hard.
2. Scientists believe that most species of plants and animals died out without leaving any fossils.
3. Fossils indicate that deserts were once sea bottoms.
4. Fossils that closely resemble living animals indicate that successful animals do not change much over time.
5. Because new evidence links birds and dinosaurs, scientists believe that birds may be the descendents of dinosaurs.
6. Although their exact age cannot be determined, fossils have been found in different layers of rock, which indicate relative ages.
7. Because nests of baby dinosaurs have been found, scientists believe that these ancient creatures cared for their young for some time.
8. Even though we cannot guess at the colors of prehistoric flowers, fossils indicate that flowering plants date from about 138 million years ago.

B. Understanding Complex Sentences

In each of these complex sentences, underline only the independent clause.

1. Since Eldon hates airplanes, he'll probably take the train even though it is slow.
2. If you see Rita, please tell her to return my lunchbox that she borrowed last week.
3. Someone forgot to water the roses that grow in the side yard.
4. Wherever you go, you'll find interesting people whom you can write about.
5. Although the farmer is ready, the ground is still too wet to plow.
Lesson 3

Complex Sentences

A. Understanding Complex Sentences

In each of these complex sentences, underline each independent clause once and each dependent clause twice.

1. Until you change those strings, your banjo won’t sound very good.
2. Darryl looked after my dog while I was away.
3. Bring your backpack when you come to school today.
4. When my grandmother was young, she listened to Frank Sinatra records.
5. Unless I am wrong, peaches were first grown in China.
6. Linda will lend Wei the book when she has finished it.
7. The announcer whose voice is so pleasant has switched to the morning drive time.
8. Write about your experience while it is still fresh in your mind.
9. In this plan, you play as you go.
10. None of the poems that I like best are in this anthology.

B. Identifying Kinds of Sentences

Identify each sentence below with S for simple, CD for compound, or CX for complex.

1. Scientists can determine the relative age of fossils from the layers of rock in which the fossils are found.
2. Fossils in lower layers are older; those in higher layers are younger.
3. The oldest fossils of any group of living things are simpler than the more recent fossils are.
4. To scientists, this is clear evidence that plants and animals change over time.
5. The oldest fossils are approximately 3.5 billion years old.
6. These ancient fossils are traces of bacteria, which are one-celled organisms.
7. Animals without backbones came into being about 700 million years ago, but animals with backbones did not appear until about 500 million years ago.
8. If you could travel in time, would you go to the time of the dinosaurs?
9. Even the air must have smelled different that long ago!
Lesson 3

Complex Sentences

A. Creating Complex Sentences
Combine each numbered sentence with the first sentence that follows to make a complex sentence. Add, drop, or change words as needed. Write the new sentences below.

(1) Evidence from fossils shows something. The continents have changed shape and position. (2) Dinosaurs appeared about 240 million years ago. All the continents were connected. (3) Fossils of mammals are very different from continent to continent. Mammals appeared about 40 million years later. (4) The first mammals lived about 200 million years ago. The continents had begun to split apart by that time.

3.

4.

B. Revising Complex Sentences
Underline the independent clause in each of these complex sentences. Then rewrite the sentence, keeping the independent clause but supplying a new dependent clause.

1. We ate the fruit because we were hungry.

2. After the curtain accidentally fell during her speech, the actress forgot her lines.

3. A statue that was sculpted by Rodin is on display at the museum.
Lesson 4

Kinds of Dependent Clauses

An adjective clause is a dependent clause that is used as an adjective. An adjective clause modifies a noun or pronoun. It tells what kind, which one, how much, or how many.

Rosa likes furniture that was made in colonial America. (Which furniture?)

Adjective clauses are usually joined to the main clause by relative pronouns such as who, whom, whose, that, and which. A clause beginning with which is set off by commas.

This antiques dealer, who has similar pieces, has reasonable prices. (describes dealer)
This chair, which Rosa bought recently, was made about 1720. (describes chair)

An adverb clause is a dependent clause that is used as an adverb. It modifies a verb, adjective, or adverb. Adverb clauses tell where, when, how, why, under what conditions, and to what extent.

Because such chairs are rare, they are valuable. (tells why, modifies verb)

Adverb clauses are usually joined to the main clause by subordinating conjunctions such as if, because, although, as, when, where, and while.

A noun clause is a dependent clause used as a noun. Noun clauses may be used anywhere in a sentence that nouns can be used.

| Subject | Who made the furniture is not known. |
| Direct Object | Rosa buys whatever antiques she can afford. |
| Predicate Nominative | This table is what she found last year. |

Usually, a noun clause is joined to the main clause by words such as who, whom, whoever, whomever, that, which, what, when, how, where, why, and whether.

Identifying Adjective, Adverb, and Noun Clauses

Write ADJ (adjective), ADV (adverb), or N (noun) to identify each boldfaced clause.

1. Duncan Phyfe was an American furniture designer who lived from 1768 to 1854. ______
2. Phyfe came to America from Scotland, where he was born. ______
3. When Phyfe came to America, he settled in New York City. ______
4. The style that Phyfe made popular is called the Federal style. ______
5. What made Phyfe famous was his chairs and seats. ______
6. His chairs have backs that are shaped like scrolls. ______
7. Phyfe took ideas from neoclassical style, because that was popular in England. ______
8. Americans still admired whatever the English admired. ______
9. The neoclassical style was introduced in England by Robert Adam, who was also from Scotland. ______
10. A furniture style that began in France was what inspired Adam. ______
Kinds of Dependent Clauses

A. Identifying Adjective, Adverb, and Noun Clauses
In each sentence, underline the dependent clause. On the line, write ADJ (adjective), ADV (adverb), or N (noun) to identify the clause.

Example I simply like furniture that is comfortable. ADJ

1. The art museum has an exhibit of furniture that came from ancient Egypt.

2. That throne, which belonged to King Tutankhamen, is one of the loveliest pieces.

3. What the average Egyptian of that time had in his or her home was only a simple stool or two.

4. Because the furniture is so old, the museum controls the humidity in the hall.

5. If you had lived in classical Greece, you probably would have slept on the floor.

6. Whoever was rich enough had an elegant bed.

7. Many Greek tables had three legs that ended in feet shaped like paws.

8. Romans borrowed Greek furniture styles, as they borrowed most Greek things.

9. Although the Romans began with the same styles, they adapted them.

10. Today we still use styles that were developed by the Romans.

B. Identifying Clauses and Their Roles
Underline once the dependent clause in each sentence. If that clause is an adjective or an adverb clause, write on the line the word it modifies. If the clause is a noun clause, write S, O, or PN to tell whether the clause is used as the subject of a verb, direct or indirect object of a verb or object of a preposition, or a predicate nominative.

1. That loud girl on the bus said whatever popped into her head.

2. As I walked past the phone booth on the corner, the phone was ringing.

3. Did the mail carrier bring the letter that you were waiting for?

4. Whoever needs a pencil may take one from the storage cabinet.

5. Close all of the programs before you shut down the computer.

6. The city is reclaiming land around the factory, which was contaminated by the waste products.

7. Until we hear from the contest judges, we will be holding our breath.
A. Identifying Adjective, Adverb, and Noun Clauses

Each sentence has at least one dependent clause. Underline each dependent clause, and, next to the underlined words, write ADJ (adjective), ADV (adverb), or N (noun) to identify its type.

1. One of the characteristics that made classic Chinese furniture remarkable was how the craftspeople joined the parts without pegs, nails, or even glue.

2. Because Japan is subject to frequent earthquakes, Japanese furniture has consisted of small, lightweight pieces that can easily be moved to safety.

3. Although a stool is smaller than a throne, in Ghana and other parts of Africa, it had the same role, because the stool was reserved for whoever was chief.

4. Cassones are large chests that were made by craftspeople who worked in Italy in the period between 1300 and 1600, which is called the Renaissance.

B. Using Dependent Clauses

Rewrite each sentence with a clause that fits the description in parentheses.

1. (Noun clause, subject of the verb sang) He sang with the orchestra.

2. (Adjective clause, modifying radio) I turned off the radio.

3. (Adverb clause, modifying strong) The wind was strong.

4. (Noun clause, object of about) The club members talked about it.

5. (Adverb clause, telling when) Did you have a good time?
Compound-Complex Sentences

A compound-complex sentence has two or more independent clauses and one or more dependent clauses.

The Great Barrier Reef that lies off the coast of Australia is the largest in the world; the reef off the coast of Belize is the largest in the Western Hemisphere.

A. Identifying Clauses

In each compound-complex sentence below, the dependent clause is underlined. Identify the sentence parts named in the parentheses: Write the sentence parts on the line.

1. Before the Spanish conquered Peru, the Incas had built a walled city called Machu Picchu; this tour visits the ruins of that city.

   (simple subject and verb of the first independent clause)

   (simple subject and verb of the second independent clause)

2. The Grand Canyon is a stunning sight, but Yosemite National Park also has many impressive features that you will never forget.

   (simple subject and verb of the first independent clause)

   (simple subject and verb of the dependent clause)

3. New Orleans is known for its lively French Quarter, and visitors who have an interest in history will enjoy a tour of the historic sites.

   (simple subject and verb of the dependent clause)

   (simple subject and verb of the second independent clause)

B. Identifying Kinds of Sentences

Identify each sentence below with CD for compound, CX for complex, or CD-CX for compound-complex.

1. Stay a little longer if you like.

2. Although my dog can play the piano, he does not do it well, and nobody asks him for encores.

3. After the last song, the musicians packed up their instruments and got on the bus.

4. No one should ride on a motorcycle unless he or she wears a helmet.

5. I'll go if I can, but several events are scheduled for that day.

6. Spring came and went quickly, but I was ready for summer.

7. When you called, I was reading a book; now I can't find my place.
Lesson 5

Compound-Complex Sentences

A. Identifying Clauses
In each compound-complex sentence below, draw parentheses around each independent clause and underline each dependent clause.

1. A tourist attraction that also has practical importance is the Panama Canal; both cruise ships and freighters pass through it daily.
2. Is the Sears Tower in Chicago still the tallest building in the world, or have any buildings that have gone up recently taken that honor?
3. When the last tsar of Russia was arrested by revolutionaries, he and his family were hiding at a palace near St. Petersburg; now that palace is open to tourists.
4. Mount Fuji in Japan has become so popular with tourists that crowding has become a real problem, but I would still like to travel there.
5. You can take a large cruise ship to see the glaciers of Alaska, or you can ride a smaller boat that can go closer to the coast and its icy covering.
6. I'd like to see the North Pole, but I will never go where it is that cold!

B. Identifying Kinds of Sentences
Identify each sentence below with S for simple, CD for compound, CX for complex, or CD-CX for compound-complex.

1. My aunt has joined an investment club that investigates and buys stocks, and she has made a little profit already.
2. The Great Barrier Reef forms a natural breakwater for the coast of northeast Australia and attracts tourists from all over the world.
3. Just thinking is not enough; you must think of something.

6. Is the universe expanding, or is it contracting?
7. After the holiday dinner is over, my brother washes dishes and I dry them.
8. The last car of the poky old freight train is just now coming into view.
9. Everyone who saw the movie has liked it, so I'm going tonight.
10. We tried hard, but the job was harder than we expected.
Compound-Complex Sentences

A. Identifying Kinds of Sentences
Identify each sentence below with S for simple, CD for compound, CX for complex, or CD-CX for compound-complex.

1. San Francisco is built on hills, and some of the streets are quite steep.

2. Because almost all parts of Hawaii are almost always cooled by winds, visitors rarely complain about the heat.

3. In Florida, if you aren’t a fan of amusement parks, you can explore the Everglades, or you can go to the beaches, which are a fine place to relax.

4. Visitors to Pennsylvania can explore historic sites of the Revolutionary War at Valley Forge or of the Civil War at Gettysburg.

B. Writing Different Kinds of Sentences
Write compound-complex sentences by adding to the sentences in Exercise A according to the directions in parentheses.

1. (Locate the compound-complex sentence in Exercise A. Replace either independent clause.)

2. (Locate the compound sentence in Exercise A. Add an adjective clause.)

3. (Locate the complex sentence in Exercise A. Add another independent clause that tells another effect of the dependent clause.)

4. (Locate the simple sentence in Exercise A. Add an adverb clause that tells when, and another independent clause that tells about another state. Use a semicolon to join the second independent clause to the sentence.)
Lesson 1

Agreement in Number

A verb must agree with its subject in number. Number refers to whether a word is singular—naming one—or plural—naming more than one.

A singular subject takes a singular verb.

That boy follows a trail. (singular subject, singular verb)

A plural subject takes a plural verb.

Those boys follow a trail. (plural subject, plural verb)

In a sentence with a verb phrase, the first helping verb must agree with the subject.

For the past hour the boys have been following the trail.

The contractions doesn't and don't are short forms of does not and do not. Use doesn't with all singular subjects except I and you. Use don't with all plural subjects, I, and you.

Doesn't this tree look old? Don't those trees look tall?

A. Making Subjects and Verbs Agree in Number

In each sentence, underline the subject. Then underline the verb in parentheses that agrees with the subject.

1. The turtles (was, were) sunning themselves on a log.
2. Marie (was, were) looking for dragonflies.
3. Her teacher (want, wants) her to write a paper on them.
4. Arthur (sketches, sketch) in his notebook.
5. Anna and Marie (has, have) never seen cattails before.
6. The teacher (says, say) cattails are edible.
7. They (was, were) disappointed when they tried eating one.
8. Jim (has, have) captured a garter snake.
9. He (assures; assure) everyone that it is not poisonous.
10. Fred (is, are) calling it a “garden snake.”

B. Identifying Subjects and Verbs That Agree in Number

In each sentence, underline the subject and circle the verb. On the line following the sentence, write whether the two parts of the sentence Agree or Disagree in number.

1. Fred and John wants adventure on this hike.

2. They is grabbing at a turtle.

3. Their teacher reminds them of their promise not to remove any plants or animals.

4. The students has agreed to that rule.

5. The turtles have disappeared under the water.
Lesson 1

Agreement in Number

More Practice

A. Making Subjects and Verbs Agree in Number
On the line following each sentence, write the present tense form of the verb that agrees with the subject.

1. The captain (board) the ship early this evening.

2. The musicians (practice) diligently.

3. Usually, the plumber (arrive) on the work site before the carpenter.

4. The French teacher (like) browsing through bookstores.

5. Tom (be) searching for a quote from Shakespeare.

6. Fritz (think) the pasta dish is delicious.

7. The team members (go) to the library together.

8. Thomas (have) been working on that problem for a half hour.

9. I (be) the one who spoke up when nobody else would.

10. Marty (feel) she knows the piece well enough now.

B. Correcting Agreement Errors
In each sentence, underline the subject and circle the verb. If the verb agrees with the subject, write Correct on the line to the right. If it does not agree, write the correct verb.

1. Jose are searching for leopard frogs.

2. Mary were looking among the bushes.

3. I were observing the water striders.

4. They actually stand on the water surface.

5. Their feet makes little indentations on the surface.

6. How many students is on that bus?

7. They were told to bring their lunches.

8. One student have brought a net.

9. How many sets of wings do dragonflies have?

10. How do dragonflies and damselflies differ?
Agreement in Number

A. Proofreading for Errors in Agreement
Underline the five verbs in this paragraph that do not agree with their subjects. On the lines below, write the numbers of the sentences in which you find agreement errors. After each sentence number, write the subject and the verb form that agrees with it.

   (1) Mr. Johnson love swamps. (2) Therefore, on our field trip we went to Green Swamp. (3) Most of us would have chosen a day at the beach. (4) According to Mr. Johnson, the nearest things happen in swamps. (5) He have lectured more than once on the topic of metamorphosis. (6) His examples has been caterpillars turning into butterflies and tadpoles turning into frogs. (7) He gets pretty excited about tadpoles. (8) Actually, the metamorphosis is amazing. (9) One week the animals are breathing with gills, like fish; and the next week they have lungs, like us. (10) Even the dedicated beach goers wants another visit to the swamp this fall.

B. Making Subjects and Verbs Agree in Writing
Choose one of the topics below and write a paragraph of at least four sentences about it. Use the present tense throughout. Make sure the subjects and verbs of all the sentences agree.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Exploring a swamp</th>
<th>Exploring a forest</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A memorable field trip</td>
<td>Science class</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals and plants in a swamp</td>
<td>Respect for nature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Useful insects</td>
<td>Tadpoles and frogs</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Lesson 2

Compound Subjects

A compound subject is made up of two or more simple subjects joined by a conjunction such as and, or, or nor.

And A compound subject whose subjects are joined by and usually takes a plural verb.

Monet and Manet were both great painters.

Sometimes a compound subject joined by and is used as a single unit and takes a singular verb.

The horse and buggy is an outmoded form of travel.

Or or Nor When the parts of a compound subject are joined by or or nor, the verb should agree with the part closest to it.

Neither the Impressionists nor Picasso was represented in that gallery.

* Either Picasso or the Impressionists are good subjects for a term paper.

Making Verbs Agree with Compound Subjects

In each sentence, underline each part of the compound subject. Underline twice the word joining the parts. Then underline the verb in parentheses that agrees with the subject.

1. Both Vincent Van Gogh and Pablo Picasso (was, were) great artists.
2. Picasso and Diego Velázquez (was, were) Spanish.
3. Neither the sketches nor the painting (captures, capture) the subject completely.
4. Either the artist or the patron (is, are) going to be present.

Agreement Problems in Sentences

Subjects in Unusual Positions In questions, sentences beginning with here or there, or sentences in which an adjective, an adverb, or a phrase is placed first, the subject can be hard to find. Reorder the words in standard order to determine whether the verb should be singular or plural.

Question

Does your house have a big yard?
Your house does have a big yard.

Here and There

Here are the new bushes.
The new bushes are here.

Beginning Phrase

Beyond the hedge lies a fishpond.
A fishpond lies beyond the hedge.

Predicate Nouns A predicate noun follows a linking verb and describes the subject. The verb must agree with the subject, not the predicate noun.

The delight of the gardener is the old rosebushes.
The old rosebushes are the gardener's delight.

Prepositional Phrases The subject of a verb is never part of a prepositional phrase. Mentally block out any words between the subject and verb. Make the verb agree with the subject.

This pot of flowers blooms in spring. (singular subject and verb)
The flowers in this pot bloom in spring. (plural subject and verb)

Making Subjects and Verbs Agree

Underline the subject of each sentence. Draw a line through any phrase that separates the subject from the verb. Finally, underline the verb that agrees with the subject.

1. Houses by Frank Lloyd Wright (is, are) usually on the National Register.
2. (Does, Do) the inexperienced actors in the play know their lines?
3. The students in the honors class (is, are) doing a new project.

Lesson 5

Problem Subjects

It may be difficult to tell whether the subjects in the following cases are singular or plural.

Collective Nouns A collective noun names a group of people or things. Examples include group, team, family, class, and majority. When the members act together, the collective noun takes a singular verb. When they act as individuals, it takes a plural verb.

Usually, the majority is satisfied with election results. (acting together)
The majority of the voters are young people. (acting as individuals)

Singular Nouns Ending in S Some nouns ending in -s or -ics appear to be plural but are considered singular. As subjects, these nouns take singular verbs. Examples include news, measles, mumps, civics, mathematics, acoustics, physics, and molasses.

For me, physics is difficult.

Titles Titles of works of art, literature, or music are singular.

The Thousand and One Nights is a collection of stories.

Time and Amounts Words and phrases that identify weights, measures, numbers, and time are usually considered singular. Fractions are considered singular or plural, depending on whether the subject is thought of as a whole or as separate objects.

Ten dollars is the usual ticket price. (singular)
Two days is the minimum time needed for delivering a letter. (singular)
Only three-fourths of the students are healthy. (plural)

Problem Subjects

A. Proofreading for Subject-Verb Agreement
Proofread this paragraph for errors in subject-verb agreement. Draw a line through each incorrect verb. Then draw this proofreading symbol • next to the word and write the correction above the error.

Our class have been reading some books that are a kind of early science fiction. Mark Twain’s The Prince and the Pauper were really science fiction, based on the notion of time travel. Jules Verne’s Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea were written about the same time as Twain’s work. Physics, at least with respect to underwater pressures and forces, are essential to the Verne work. Mathematics are important too. The crew of the Nautilus need to calculate underwater locations as well as water pressures.

B. Writing Sentences
Complete each of these sentences by adding a present-tense verb as described in the parentheses. Add any other needed words.

EXAMPLE Ninety cents is enough for a cup of coffee.

1. My mother’s bridge club ____________________________

2. “The Three Billy Goats Gruff” ____________________________

3. Social studies ____________________________

4. The football team ____________________________

5. Six dollars and fifty cents ____________________________

6. Romeo and Juliet ____________________________

10. In 1492, the santa maria arrived in the bahamas.

11. I wonder if I'll still be around the next time halley's comet is visible from Earth.

12. On a visit to the middle east, you can see the ancient city of jerusalem.

B. Capitalizing Names of Places in a Paragraph

Underline the words that should be capitalized in the following paragraph.

London, England, is one of the oldest cities in the world. Long ago, the city which we now call London was really two cities—the City of London and the City of Westminster. The City of London started out as an outpost of the Roman Empire around A.D. 43. The City of Westminster was built around 1,000 years later. Now London is so big that it includes both of the ancient cities and much more. In this huge city, you can see sights such as the London Bridge over the Thames River. You can visit famous places such as Trafalgar Square and Piccadilly Circus, which is really not a circus. Instead, it is a big traffic circle. In fact, since the traffic is so heavy in London, it's best not to drive at all. Most visitors travel around the city on the subway called the London Underground.
Places and Transportation

A. Capitalizing Names of Places
On the lines, write a list of five real or imaginary places you would like to visit in your life. Write as much of the address of the place as you know. For some, you may know the street address, the city, the state, the country, the continent, the hemisphere, the planet, and the galaxy. For others, you may know only part of that information.

B. Using Capital Letters in Writing
Write a description of your hometown for a travel brochure. Mention important landmarks, main streets, nearby cities or towns, mountains, lakes, rivers, or oceans. Tell readers what they are likely to see, hear, or experience at some of those places. Try to make your city attractive to people who like to travel.

186 GRAMMAR FOR WRITING WORKBOOK
Organizations and Other Subjects

Use capital letters for the following:

- all of the important words in names of organizations, institutions, stores, and companies.

  Jackson Garden Club  Madison Middle School  Village Market

Organizations and Other Subjects

A. Proofreading for Capitalization Errors
Read the following speech given at a school awards ceremony. Draw three lines under any letters that should be capitalized but are not.

Example Welcome to our recognition day ceremony.

Revere middle school is proud to honor some of its students at this recognition day ceremony. The students we honor have helped their community in many ways—from serving turkey on thanksgiving day to reading to disabled veterans of the vietnam war. They have worked at the golden times nursing home and have given up their saturday mornings to tutor other students here at revere middle school. We are proud to award the revere community helpers award to these students. After the ceremony, please join us for punch and cookies in the cafeteria.

B. Using Capitalization in Writing
Write sentences that combine names from any two categories listed below. First tell the categories you have chosen. Then write your sentence.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>organizations</th>
<th>institutions</th>
<th>stores</th>
<th>companies</th>
<th>historical</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>historical</td>
<td>documents</td>
<td>days</td>
<td>months</td>

GRAMMAR FOR WRITING WORKBOOK 189
Periods and Other End Marks

The three end marks are the period, question mark, and exclamation point.

Periods Use a period at the end of a declarative sentence—one that makes a statement.

The mayor is the top city official.

Use a period at the end of almost every imperative sentence. An imperative sentence gives a command. If a command is said with emotion, it ends in an exclamation point.

Please transfer me to the fire department!

Use a period at the end of an indirect question. An indirect question reports what a person asked without using the person’s exact words.

I asked who has the job of dogcatcher.

Use a period after an abbreviation or an initial, as in this example: Mr. Nelson R. Diaz.

Use a period after each number and letter in an outline or list.

Question Marks Use a question mark to end an interrogative sentence, or question.

Who is the dogcatcher?

Exclamation Points Use an exclamation point to end an exclamatory sentence, a sentence that expresses strong feeling. Use an exclamation point after an interjection as well.

Wow! What an incredible victory that election gave us!

Using Periods and Other End Marks

Add punctuation as necessary in the following items.

1. The election is in six weeks
2. Mrs Joan T Reynolds is running against Mr Robert J Bachman, Jr
3. Imagine—we have two candidates with real credentials
4. Last time, neither candidate had experience
5. How difficult this choice will be
6. Polls open at 6 A M and close at 9 P M
7. The city will face several critical issues during the next four years
8. I Transportation
   A Rail traffic extensions
   B Bridge reconstructions
II Delivery of services
   A Garbage and sanitation
   B Police and fire services
Periods and Other End Marks

A. Using End Marks
Add punctuation marks where necessary in the following items.
1. A voter asked the candidates what their priorities and plans were
2. We won Hooray Happy days are here again
3. The issues are sewers, schools, and sprawl
4. Mr Thompson, the alderman, opposes any new taxes
5. The Town Board meets at 7:00 p.m.—sharp
6. Did you find out how the vote went
7. The “nay” votes will outnumber the “aye” votes
8. Do you plan to get up and talk
9. Tell me how you feel about the issues
10. Could you hear Alderman Morrissey’s comment
11. I issues facing the town in the next decade
   A. Sewer extensions
   B. School budget
   C. Suburban sprawl
   D. Taxes
   II Leaders
12. Hey I still have the floor

B. Using End Marks in Writing
Add the correct end mark at the end of each sentence in the following paragraph.

Americans are becoming more and more suspicious of public officials.
First-time candidates brag about never having held office.
Turn out the rascals.
Get rid of the scoundrels.
Those are the slogans of many campaigns.
But does this attitude make sense?
We should never assume that officeholders are incompetent.
Instead, we must insist on honest work.
Periods and Other End Marks

A. Using End Marks in Writing
Add periods, question marks, and exclamation points where necessary in the following paragraph. To add a period, insert this symbol . . To add a question mark or an exclamation point, use a caret ^ and write the correct punctuation mark above it.

Have you ever seen or heard about an annual Vermont town meeting
   Every spring, around maple sugaring time, all the town's citizens meet in the town hall. There they vote on any issue that concerns them, from rats in the town dump to school issues to international problems. Even though a town has no responsibility for international relations, citizens express their opinions proudly. What a way to practice democracy! Oh, the town meeting is a grand social occasion, as well. People get to meet and greet their neighbors after the long Vermont winter.

B. Using End Marks in an Outline
Imagine that you are considering running for public office. Write an outline to help yourself make up your mind. List three ways in which your running for office and serving in office will be good for your and your community. Also list three problems that might stop you from doing a good job in office. Be sure to punctuate correctly.

Title:
I. Why I should run for office
   A.
   B.
   C.

II. Why I should not run for office
   A.
   B.
   C.
Lesson 2

Commas in Sentences

Teaching

Use a comma before the conjunction that joins the two main clauses of a compound sentence. Do not use a comma to separate parts of a compound predicate.

Nurses used to be untrained, but now they must finish special training.

In a series of three or more items, use a comma after every item except the last one.

Nurses care for the sick, injured, and disabled.

Use commas between two or more adjectives of equal rank that modify the same noun. The adjectives are of equal rank if you can substitute the word and for the comma.

Nurses are well-trained, caring individuals.

Use commas after an introductory word or phrase.

After European nursing schools opened, Americans opened similar schools.

Use commas to set off one or more words that interrupt the flow of thought in a sentence.

Helping sick people, I believe, is a very worthy profession.

Use commas to set off nouns of direct address.

Robert, your mother and grandmother were both nurses.

Use commas to set off nonessential appositives. Appositives are nonessential if the meaning of the sentence is clear without them.

One group, the American Nurses’ Association, admits only registered nurses.

Use a comma whenever the reader might otherwise be confused.

Before the mid–1900s, nursing was considered by many to be an unsuitable profession.

Using Commas Correctly

Insert commas where necessary in the following sentences.

1. During the Civil War in America Clara Barton aided in medical care for the Union.
2. She provided food medical supplies and nurses for the wounded soldiers.
3. She headed a government bureau the Missing Soldiers Office to find information on missing soldiers.

8. Hospital-based programs still exist but they do not grant an academic degree.

9. Nurses today work at hospitals schools camps homes and workplaces.

10. After completing an associate or baccalaureate degree program graduates can use the initials RN (registered nurse) after their name.

B. Using Commas in Writing
Rewrite the following paragraph, using commas where they are needed.

Florence Nightingale received her nursing training in Egypt and Germany. After the start of the Crimean War soldiers were dying because of inadequate medical care and rampant disease. She volunteered her services and the minister of war appointed her to head all nursing operations at the front. Her tireless heartfelt efforts saved many lives. Her contributions to nursing then and later were invaluable. Florence Nightingale was a nurse hospital reformer and humanitarian. Thanks to her I believe nursing became a respectable important profession.
Commas in Sentences

A. Writing with Complete Subjects and Complete Predicates
Add commas where they are needed in the following paragraph. Use the proofreading symbol (?)

As members of one of the most populous professions in the nation, registered nurses take on many duties. Student nurses can promote healthy living and they can aid patients recovering from illness or injury. After a physician sees a patient, nurses carry out the orders for patient care. Nurses of course make independent decisions for patient care as well. Nurses can specialize in surgery, pediatrics, psychiatry or another specialty. The four types of advanced practice nurses are nurse practitioners, certified nurse-midwives, clinical nurse specialists and certified registered nurse anesthetists. These nurses advanced practice nurses can handle a wider range of services than registered nurses can. All nurses make essential, life-saving contributions to the practice of medicine.

B. Using Commas in Writing
Rewrite the sentences by following the directions in parentheses.
1. The nurse filled the supply closet. (Include a series of items.)

2. My family and I liked my grandfather’s nurse. (Include two adjectives of equal rank that modify the same noun.)

3. The nurse practitioner was helpful. (Include another main clause.)

4. My nursing school was very competitive. (Include a nonessential appositive.)
Lesson 3

Commas: Dates, Addresses, and Letters

Commas in Dates  Use a comma between the day of the month and the year. If the sentence continues, use a comma after the year, also.

The play will be performed May 7, 2002, at the city auditorium.

Commas in Addresses  Use a comma between the name of a city or town and the name of the state or country. If the sentence continues, use a comma after the name of the state or country.

Blaine, Pennsylvania, is home of the Blaine Wildcats.

Commas in Letters  Use a comma after the greeting of a friendly letter and after the closing of a friendly or business letter.

Dear Uncle Fred,
Your nephew,

A. Using Commas Correctly in Dates and Addresses

Insert commas where necessary in the following sentences.

1. The play is scheduled for December 19 2000 to January 9 2001—but there may be an extension.

2. The address of the auditorium is 75 Brinton Street Toledo Ohio.

6. The only date I have memorized is the date I was born—August 4 1985.

B. Using Commas Correctly in Dates, Addresses, and Letters

Insert commas where necessary in the following letter.

2774 Melvin Avenue
Cleveland OH 44108
March 7 2000

Dear Sally

Thanks so much for inviting Grandpa Fritz and me to see your school play on May 7. Unfortunately we will be in San Francisco California that weekend for the convention Grandpa always likes to attend. But when you come to Cleveland—your mom said you’d come the weekend of June 12—I hope you’ll tell us all about the play and recite your lines for us.

Fondly
Grandma Liz
Lesson 3

Commas: Dates, Addresses, and Letters

A. Using Commas Correctly in Dates and Addresses
Insert commas where necessary in the following sentences.

1. Shakespeare's Globe Theater was on the south bank of the Thames in an area that is now a part of London England.
2. Shakespeare died on April 23 1616.
3. April 23 1564 is traditionally considered to have been his birthday.

Write these parts in the correct order on the lines below. Use commas where they are needed.

46 Leicester Avenue
Sally
Toledo OH 43709

Love
Dear Grandma Liz
May 10 2000

Thanks for your cards from Denver Colorado and San Francisco. It was a good thing you and Grandpa Fritz took your trip rather than come to see my play. Two days before opening night I got sick, and I was home in bed for a week. My stand-in got to play my part!
Commas: Dates, Addresses, and Letters

A. Proofreading a Letter

Proofread the following letter for punctuation errors. Insert commas where necessary.

2774 Melvin Avenue
Cleveland OH 43724

My dear Sally

  Grandma Liz told me about your getting sick and losing your role in the school play. I don’t know what I could say to console you except that I sympathize with how you feel. We know you would have been great. I found out on my 16th birthday that I wasn’t an actor at all. On February 17 1950 I tried out for my school play. I didn’t get any role. You did get a role and you will get another one next year! And we’ll come see you, even if you’re performing in Nome Alaska!

    Love
    Grandpa

B. Writing with Commas

Imagine that you are William Shakespeare (1564–1616), and that you are having difficulty writing your first play. Write a letter to a friend back home in Stratford-upon-Avon, England, to talk about your current problem and your hopes for the future. On the lines below, write the letter. Use the form of a friendly letter, and use commas correctly.

Lesson 4

Punctuating Quotations

A direct quotation is a report of a speaker's exact words. Use quotation marks at the beginning and at the end of a direct quotation.

"Movies about aliens are interesting," Jeff said.

Use commas to set off the explanatory words used with a direct quotation, at the beginning, middle, or end of the quotation.

Jeff said, "Movies about aliens are interesting."

"Movies about aliens," Jeff said, "are interesting."

If the quotation itself is a question or exclamation, the question mark or exclamation point falls inside the end quotation marks. Commas and periods always go inside the end quotation marks.

"Wow!" Olivia exclaimed. "Did you read the new book about UFOs yet?"

If the quotation is part of a question or exclamation, the question mark or exclamation point falls outside the end quotation marks.

Did the scientist say, "I believe aliens do exist"?

A divided quotation is a direct quotation that is divided into two parts by explanatory words. Both parts are enclosed in quotation marks. The first word in the second part is not capitalized unless it begins a sentence. Review the above examples to see how to punctuate and capitalize a divided quotation.

A dialogue is a conversation between two or more speakers. In writing a dialogue, indicate a change in speaker by using a new paragraph and new set of quotation marks.

"Dr. Turner," the reporter asked, "do you believe in the existence of alien life?"

"Yes, I believe it is possible intelligent life exists elsewhere," the scientist replied.

An indirect quotation is a restatement, in somewhat different words, of what someone said. Do not use quotation marks to set off an indirect quotation.

Professor Reese announced that she didn't believe in UFOs or aliens.

Using Quotation Marks

Add quotation marks where necessary in these sentences.

1. Alicia asked, Do you know what a UFO is?
2. A UFO, Isabella replied, is an alien spacecraft.
3. No! Ray cried. A UFO is any unidentified flying object.
4. Ninety percent of UFO sightings can later be identified, Ray added.
5. Did Ray say that 90 percent of UFO sightings can later be identified?
6. Some sightings, Sue said, are identified as birds, planes, satellites, or balloons.
7. How funny! Isabella exclaimed. Some of the sightings are just hoaxes, right?
8. You are right, Ray replied, but I think it would be exciting to see a real flying saucer.
Punctuating Quotations

A. Writing Sentences with Quotation Marks
Add quotation marks, commas, and end marks where necessary in each sentence.
If the sentence is correct as is, circle the numeral before the sentence.
1. UFOs Elena stated have been sighted since ancient times.
2. Brian replied, I can't believe people really think UFOs are alien spacecraft.
3. What! exclaimed Bernie. Did you know that the air force used to investigate UFOs as threats to our national security?
4. Elena and Brian admitted that they did not know about air force investigations.
5. Did they find anything Elena asked that they could not explain?
6. Out of 12,618 cases, the air force couldn't explain 701 sightings Bernie reports.
7. Did he just say The air force couldn't explain 701 sightings?
8. Bernie said, That count was reported in 1969.
9. In 1997 Bernie announced the CIA admitted that the military had deceived people in an effort to keep high-altitude spying planes secret.
10. Wow! Brian exclaimed. I didn't realize that UFO sightings were so exciting.

B. Using Quotation Marks
Copy this dialogue below, adding quotation marks where necessary.

A scientist has announced that her team will find intelligent life elsewhere in the universe.

Interesting! says Dr. Potts. I'd like to see how she plans to do this.

That claims Dr. Barbosa is preposterous. I don't believe she'll find anything.

Dr. Potts retorts Dr. Barbosa, the universe is large. Can't you admit that intelligent life might be out there somewhere?

No. I don't believe in any of these alien or UFO stories Dr. Barbosa replies.

I don't believe the stories either, but I do think aliens exist concludes Dr. Potts.
Punctuating Quotations

A. Correcting Misuse of Quotation Marks
Rewrite the following sentences, using quotation marks, commas, and end marks correctly.

1. Darius said Books and movies about extraterrestrial life are fascinating and entertaining.

2. The great thing about alien stories added Gus is that almost anything can be possible.

3. Violet Mrs. Batista asked did you see the newspaper story about UFO sightings?

4. My favorite television shows are the ones that deal with aliens and outer space announced Owen.

5. Did Rosa say Let's rent the movie about the aliens hiding on Earth?

B. Writing with Quotation Marks
Write a short dialogue in which two students talk about how people are willing to believe in UFOs. Make sure that you indicate clearly who is speaking. Use quotation marks and other punctuation marks correctly.
Semicolons and Colons

Semicolons in Compound Sentences Use a semicolon to join the parts of a compound sentence if you don’t use a coordinating conjunction.

Fay cared for four cats; one of them actually belonged to a neighbor.

Use a semicolon between the parts of a compound sentence if the clauses are long and complicated, or if they contain one or more commas.

Fay had three cats of her own; but one of them, a gray one with black on his paws and ears, was her favorite.

Semicolons with Items in a Series When there are commas within parts of a series, use a semicolon to separate the parts.

In addition, she had a gerbil, a gift from her sister; a hamster, which she bought as a companion to the gerbil; and two white mice.

Colons Use a colon in the following ways: to introduce a list of items; after the formal greetings in a business letter; and between hours and minutes in expressions of time. When using the colon to introduce a list, use it only after nouns or pronouns.

Dear Mr. Jameson:

The lecture, which will begin at 11:30 A.M., is to cover three kinds of pets: felines, canines, and reptiles.

Using Semicolons and Colons

Add semicolons and colons where they are needed in the following sentences.

1. I don’t mind cats, dogs, or fish but she wants to have lizards, snakes, and spiders.
2. We went to Paris we saw the Eiffel Tower.
3. Joan doesn’t study she’s unlikely to do well in math.
4. However, Joan is a good athlete she trains hard.
5. Before you set off for school, make sure you have all your supplies pencils, compass, protractor, notebooks.
6. Ask Mitzi to show you the tarantula she lets it walk up her arm.
7. The dogs get fed at 700 A.M. and 600 P.M.
8. Harvey walks Salt and Pepper, the dogs of our neighbor to the east and he feeds the fish in the aquarium of our neighbor to the west.
9. Your cats are companionable enough I still prefer a dog.
10. We went to two bookstores and a department store book section but the book I was looking for, about caring for and training dogs, wasn’t anywhere.
11. My father is from Atlanta, Georgia my mother is from Portland, Maine and I was born in Chicago.
12. Memorize the following your locker location, its number, and the lock combination.
Lesson 5

Semicolons and Colons

A. Using the Semicolon and the Colon

Add semicolons and colons where they are needed in the numbered sentences.

(1) Keeping a pet is a big responsibility it's a commitment for the life of the animal. (2) Caring for the pet demands more than just putting out food and water those are just the basics. (3) You also have to think about such things as the following vaccinations, the babysitting of your pet when you're away, and veterinary care.

(4) These items can cost a good deal of money in addition, you should also consider the emotional cost, to you and the rest of the family, of a crisis involving a pet. (5) A cat or dog may get hit by a car, especially in the city, where there are more vehicles or your pet may be injured in a fight with another animal, either in the country or the city. If you remember these drawbacks and still want a pet, there are hundreds of animal shelters and pet stores to serve you.

B. Using the Semicolon and the Colon in Writing

On the line at the right, write the word(s) from the sentence that should be followed by a semicolon or colon. Write the correct punctuation mark following each word. If the sentence is punctuated correctly, write Correct.

EXAMPLE This store sells toys for pets: catnip for cats, rubber bones for dogs, and tiny bells for birds. pets:

1. Before buying Izzy, we bought a book on training dogs the book has already been extremely helpful

2. The book covers all the basics nutrition, medical care, and what to do in case of an accident or injury.

3. It came with a gift certificate for a really useful item that is, a dozen cans of dog food and a list of other free pet items.

4. We didn't have reserved seats for the dog show consequently, we couldn't get in.

5. According to the newspaper report of the show, we could have seen all these dogs: poodles, Pomeranians, bulldogs, Yorkshire terriers, and salukis.
Semicolons and Colons

A. Proofreading a Play Review
The following is a review of a fable play, a play in which the characters are animals. However, the critic who wrote the review used an old-fashioned typewriter on which the key holding the colon and semicolon didn’t work. Copyedit his review, adding the needed semicolons and colons. Then rewrite the article correctly.

In this play, Reynard the fox is clever, as usual the chicken is a bit more intelligent than usual. The play includes several other traditional fable characters a duck, a cow, and even a frog. The central focus is on the contest of wits between the fox and the chicken and the chicken, with a little help from the other animals, wins out in the end. The costumes are clever however, the staging is dull. But it’s a cute play and children and adults, too, if they have any sense of fun, will enjoy it.

B. Writing Sentences with Semicolons and Colons
On a separate sheet of paper, write a sentence for each item, matching the description in parentheses.

Example (sentence that uses a semicolon to join the parts of a compound sentence without a coordinating conjunction)
The play will be held in the gym, the stage crew has set up folding chairs on the basketball court.

1. (sentence that uses a colon in an expression of time)
2. (sentence that uses a semicolon to separate parts when commas appear within parts of a series)
3. (sentence that uses a semicolon to join the parts of a compound sentence without a coordinating conjunction)
4. (sentence that uses a colon to introduce a list of items)
Lesson 6

Hyphens, Dashes, and Parentheses

Here are ways to use the hyphen, the dash, and parentheses.

Hyphens Use a hyphen if part of a word must be carried over from one line to the next. Only words of two syllables or more may be broken, and each syllable must have at least two letters. Make sure that the word is separated between syllables.

Correct: cur- rent  sty- lish  be- fore

Incorrect: curr- ent  sty- le  a- gain

Use hyphens in certain compound words, such as self-starter and make-believe.

Lesson 7

Apostrophes

Apostrophes in Possessives  Use an apostrophe to form the possessive of any noun, whether singular or plural. For a singular noun, add 's even if the word ends in s.

- the director's script
- Thomas's entrance

For plural nouns that end in s, add only an apostrophe.

- the actors' needs
- the ushers' names

For plural nouns that do not end in s, add an apostrophe and s.

- the women's notebooks
- the crowd's cheers

Apostrophes in Contractions  Use an apostrophe in a contraction to show where a letter or letters have been left out.

- I will→I'll
- we have→we've
- they are→they're
- he is→he's

Don’t confuse contractions with possessive nouns, which do not contain apostrophes.

- it's (contraction, means it is)
- its (possessive, means belonging to it)

Apostrophes in Plurals  Use an apostrophe plus s to form the plurals of letters and words referred to as words.

- In that fancy writing, the f's look like s's.
- We had to reprint the poster because it had two the's in a row.

Using Apostrophes

In each sentence below, underline the word that correctly completes the sentence.

1. This is (Tess' / Tess's) opening night.
2. (It's / Its) her first lead role.
3. I know (shell / she'll) do fine.
4. Please find out (whose / who's) tickets these are.
5. (Your / You're) going to enjoy this play.
6. How many (e's / es) are there in Tennessee?
7. The (subscribers / subscribers') tickets are in the red box.

B. Using Apostrophes in Possessives
Rewrite this paragraph on the lines below, replacing all underlined phrases with phrases using possessives with apostrophes.

Going to the theater is a hobby of my friend Maria. She like's to attend the first night of a play. Then she compares her review with the review of the newspaper critic. The goal of Maria is to see one play per week. She never misses productions of comedies and tragedies of Shakespeare. She volunteers to usher at two theaters. Sometimes the schedules of the two theaters conflict. Then Maria has to choose between two plays. Making a choice like that is a nightmare of a theater-lover.
Apostrophes

A. Proofreading for Use of the Apostrophe
Proofread the paragraph below for errors in the use of apostrophes. If a word uses an apostrophe incorrectly or is lacking a needed apostrophe, cross out the word. Then draw a caret — next to the error and write the word correctly above the error.

The senior high's drama students decided they'd put on Eugène O'Neill's Ah, Wilderness! this year. It's his only comedy and some critic's favorite. Theatergoers enjoy the story of a young man—he plays hero—on the brink of falling in love, and his parents reaction to this rather disturbing event in they're lives. The students' choice was a good one. Everyone whose seen the play has liked it. In fact, I'm planning to go back next Saturday to see one of the 'last performances'. They're is a matinee and an evening performance Saturday.

B. Using Apostrophes in Writing
First rewrite each phrase listed below, using a possessive with an apostrophe. Then use the phrases that you created in a paragraph about a mishap in a restaurant.

the specialty of the chef the food of the customer
the tray of the waiter
the foot of a long-legged man the apologies of the waiter
